GERMANS SUFFER MORE LOSSES IN REGIONS OF VERDUN AND SOMME

Are Soon Driven From Trenches Taken From British in Attacks Near Pozieres.

RUSSIANS HOLD OFFENSIVE

Have Driven Teutons From Their Trenches Along Sokhod River, in Galicia.

TURKISH GAINS REPORTED

Violent Fighting Between Italians and Austrians.

The Germans have suffered further losses at the hands of the French between the Hem wood and the river Somme, losing there a line of their trenches and 120 persons and ten machine guns. In the Verdun sector the French also made progress south of the Thiaumont work, capturing five machine guns and taking some houses in the western part of the village of Fleury. After a heavy bombardment of the British position, the Germans launched violent infantry attacks north and northeast of Pozieres, and at two places succeeded in entering British trenches. Their success was not long lived, for the British soon drove them out, inflicting heavy casualties.

Northern Galicia a Quagmire.

Amid continuous heavy rains which have turned the country into a quagmire, the Russians are keeping up their strong offensive against the Teutonic allies in Northern Galicia and have pushed further forward their lines against them in the Sereth and Graberki rivers region.

Also along the Stokhod river, in Volhynia, near the town of Zarecze, the Russians have driven the Teutons from their trenches and occupied them, taking 12 officers and 200 men prisoners and capturing one machine gun in the operation. In the Carpathians the Germans report the capture of two peaks from the Russians.

Turkish Gains Reported.

Constantinople reports a series of gains for the Turks fighting against the Russians, and Petrograd admits at least one of the claims—that the Russians have been forced to retire under pressure to the region east of Kermanshah, Persia. An attack by the Russians north of Bukan, on the Persian front, was put down with heavy losses to the Russians, according to Constantinople, and in Turkish Armenia, near Bitlis and Mush, the Russians have been put to flight and the Turks have taken from them positions the Russians had previously captured.

The latest reports concerning the attack of Turks against the British forces, with the Suez canal their objective, indicates that the Ottoman forces met with a reverse even more than was first chronicled. Driven back 18 miles into the desert, fighting rear guard actions, they have suffered heavy casualties and of their total force of 14,000 lost 45 officers and 3,000 men made prisoner. They now have been entirely cleared from the Katia-Umaishi basin.

Violent fighting is in progress between the Austrians and Italians on various sectors, especially around the Gorizia bridgehead on the Doberdo plateau and on the lower Isonzo river. Near Monte Zabotio and Monte San Michele the Italians captured advanced Austrian positions, but Vienna says the greater portion of these were later retaken by the Austrians. On the lower Isonzo, Rome reports the capture by the Italians of Hill 85, which was held against violent counter attacks.

FRENCH TROOPS CAPTURE A LINE OF GERMAN TRENCEHS

Paris, Aug. 7.—Late today the French troops captured a line of German trenches between Hem wood and the Somme, according to the official statement issued by the war office tonight. They also made some progress south of the Thiaumont work. The statement says:

"North of the Somme at the end of the afternoon our troops brilliantly carried a line of German trenches between Hem wood and the river, east of Monacu farm. One hundred and twenty prisoners and about ten machine guns remained in our hands.

"South of the Somme our artillery was very active. Enemy batteries in the region of Lihons were effectively shelled.

"On the right bank of the Meuse in the course of a small action, we made progress south of the Thiaumont work. We took five machine guns and found in the conquered elements numerous German dead. After a somewhat spirited engagement, we captured some houses in the western part of the Village of Fleury.

"Our lines in the region of Vaux Le Chapitre and Chenois were subjected to a bombardment."

Kinston, N. C., Aug. 7.—The annual picnic at Alum Springs, near Catharine Lake, will be held tomorrow. The picnic usually is attended by several hundred persons from Jones, Onslow and Lenoir counties.

STRIKE VIRTUALLY ENDED LAST NIGHT

Street Railway Companies Vote, After 12-Hour Deadlock, to Accept Settlement Plan.

NORMAL SERVICE TODAY

Ambassador Page to Receive Memorandum From Foreign Office Today, Offering to Resume Discussion. With America.

Plan was Suggested by Mayor Mitchel and Oscar Straus — Settlement Grants Employes Right On Organize Unions.

New York, August 7. — The strike on the surface railway lines here, which threatened to extend to the subway and elevated systems and thus completely tie up transportation facilities in Greater New York, virtually came to an end tonight.

Directors of the New York Railways Company and the Third Avenue Railway Company, the two principal lines affected, voted after being deadlocked, for 12 hours, to accept a plan of settlement proposed by Mayor Mitchel and Oscar S. Straus, chairman of the Public Service Commission, after representatives of teh strikers had agreed to it. Normal service will be resumed tomorrow morning on the lines which ratified the agreement.

The settlement gives to the employees the right to organize, which was the issue the strike leaders said they were determined should be fought to the end. The companies agreed to treat with grievance committees of theiremployees, irrespective of the fact that they may belong to a union. Wage demands will be arbitrated, the provision being made that negotiations must not begin later than August 20. The settlement reached today makes it inevitable that the others must settle their differences, said Mayor Mitchel.

Officers of the Second Avenue railroad, the Richmond Light & Power Company and the New York & Queens County Company were invited by Mayor Mitchel to meet with him and Mr. Straus tomorrow morning to consider measures to end the strike on those lines.

Although the agreement reached tonight concedes the right of the employees to organize unions and not be recognized by the company, President Theodore P. Shonts issued a statement calling on the strikers to let bygones be bygones and get to work, giving New York the best street railway service in the world.

"Practically every demand we have made has been granted," was the statement with which William D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway

VISITED 11 CIVIL WAR BATTLEFIELDS IN AUTO

Dr. D. H. Hill Gathering Data for History He is to Write.

Was Accompanied by O. L. Clark and His Son on 1,100 Mile Trip—Wants Public in Boston Last Night taining Material.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 7.—Dr. D. H. Hill, who retired from the presidency of the A. & M. College to devote his time for the next several years to the preparation of a history of North Carolina's part in the Civil War, the work to be done under the auspices of the North Carolina Division United Confederate Veterans and the North Carolina Historical Commission, has just returned from a 1,176 mile automobile trip, during which he visited eleven Civil War battlefields for the special purpose of making personal investigations that will enable him to more clearly present the positions that the North Carolina troops occupied during the several battles and the parts they played in the fighting. The battlefields visited inclused Seven Pines, New Market, Straughsburg, Winchester, South Mountain, Sharpsburg, Gettysburg, Cedar Creek, Kernstown and Boonsboro.

Dr. Hill traveled with O. L. Clark, of Clarkton, and his son, S. W. Hill, and reports most satisfactory results attained. He is now regularly at work on the history, having his offices in the Historical Commission section of the new State Administration building. He is just now appealing to the people of the State who have any old newspaper articles or other data of value as bearing on the Civil War to loan them to him or the commission with assurances of return.

LAUNCH CAMPAIGN EARLY NEXT MONTH

Democratic Leaders Decide to Open Up Then, Regardless of Congress.

CONFERENCE WITH WILSON

McCormick and Cummins Confer With President for Four Hours—Notification Before Adjournment Possible.

Washington, Aug. 7.—A decision to launch the Democratic National campaign soon after September 1, regardless of whether Congress still is in session then, was reached at a conference today between President Wilson, Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the Democratic National committee, and Homer S. Cummings, the committee's vice chairman. The two Democratic leaders took lunch with the President and remained with him four hours, going over minutely the campaign plans.

While no date was set for the notification ceremonies, Chairman McCormick said tonight that if Congress remained in session after September 1, the notification might take place before adjournment. Under such circumstances, the President will go to Shadow Inn, N. J., for the occasion and return immediately afterward to Washington.

Invitations sent to the President to speak in various parts of the country were considered at the conference today. Mr. Wilson will make no definite engagement, however, until the date for the adjournment of Congress is agreed upon. He already has promised to go to Hodgsonville, Ky., September 4, to make a non-political speech and has made a tentative engagement to visit St. Louis September 19, 20 or 21, to address an organization of underwriters.

In Full Swing Soon.

Chairman McCormick said he planned to have the Democratic campaign in full swing by September 15. Mr. Cummings, chairman of the speakers' bureau at Democratic national headquarters, told the President of the progress made in assigning speakers to the various states.

It was definitely determined that the President would not speak in Maine where the election comes September 11, but he probably will write letters and in other ways take part in the campaign William J. Bryan, Mr. Cummings said, probably cannot tak part in the Maine campaign, but will make speeches later.

An active campaign will be carried on by the Democrats in more states this year than ever before, the leaders said after their talk with the President. No states will be conceded to the Republicans, they declared. The Democratic organization in Republican strongholds are being strengthened with the idea of putting up a fight all along the line.

Selection of the Democratic campaign committee has been almost completed, Mr. McCormick announced, and its personnel will be announced within a few days. The chairman remained here until late tonight discussing the make-up of the committee with other Democratic leaders. Plans for winning the women voters will be pushed actively, according to Mr. McCormick, and a women's bureau at the New York headquarters will be organized in the near future.

WANT MOST OF FEDERAL AID IN WEST CAROLINA

Asheville Will Make Determined Effort for Road Fund.

Dr. Pratt Thinks Bulk of the $114,000 Should be Spent in That Section, to Rebuild Roads Damaged by the Flood.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 7.—Declaring that even the great flood calamity which ruined the roads of Western North Carolina can be turned into a blessing, Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt this afternoon started a movement to secure for Western Carolina the whole, or at least a major portion, of the $114,000 recently appropriated by the Government for road work in this State.

He declared that the people of Eastern Carolina were willing to let the west have this money and said that it would be necessary as the Central Highway from Catawba to Ridgecrest will cost $84,000 to rebuild.

President Robert S. Jones, of the board of trade, who presided at the meeting of representative business men, offered a resolution to the effect that Federal aid is necessary in building the highway from the Catawba-Burke county line to the Tennessee line and it was unanimously adopted. It was decided to hold another meeting Friday night. The expenditure of $114,000 government funds means the raising of an equal amount by the State or $228,000 for road work in the western section, $34,000 of which will be necessary to reconstruct the Hickory Nut Gap road. It is probable that a determined effort to secure a major portion of the Government funds will be made by the people of Western North Carolina.

CONCUSSION FELT 6,000 FEET IN AIR

When British Aeroplane Brigade Bombarded Henin Lietard With Bomb Shower.

THEIR WORK MARVELOUS

Overwhelming Numbers of Planes Concentrated on Narrow Front of Somme Battle—Aerial Offensive Terrific.

With the British Armies in France, via Londan, Aug. 7.—The aviators felt the concussion 9,000 feet in the air when a brigade of the British aeroplanes bombarded Henin Lietard, northeast of Arras, with a shower of 112-pound bombs. When the German sheds and storehouse at Martinpuich were fired by incendiary bombs a vast pillar of smoke from the conflagration rose to a height of 8,000 feet.

The work of the British aviators recently has surpassed the wildest flights of imagination.

Overwhelming numbers of planes are concentrated on the narrow front of the Somme battle in co-ordination with a superior, unceasing volume of gunfire. The planes move in larger and larger flotillas and there have been cases with a dozen engaged in battle on either side.

The German first line and second line trenches, headquarters, billets and supply depots of all kinds, have been bombed, the aerial offensive being limited only by the number of planes and the supply of bombs.

Every Village Bombarded.

Not a village occupied by the Germans in the neighborhood of the front that has not had its aerial bombardment, according to accounts. Barges and motor trucks have been set on fire; one moving train was blown up.

The dry official accounts of the aviation corps and their aviators' jargon reveal a number of amazing feats every day. A pilot describes an average experience thus:

"I first attacked a Roland, but finding a Fokker behind, turned and maneuvered under his tail. He fired one drum at very close range, and the Fokker nose dived and went down with a spin." If it had gone down direct, it would have been a "crasher."

Chicago, Aug. 7.—A. T. Hert, Kentucky's member of the Republican National committee, will be manager of the western branch of the Hughes campaign with headquarters in Chicago, it was announced tonight by National Chairman Willcox.

Cotton Stalks Good For Making of Paper

ROYAL MATERIAL TESTING OFFICE IN GERMANY "DISCOVERS" BY EXPERIMENT THAT STALKS ARE GOOD MATERIAL

(Correspondence of Associated Press.)

Berlin, July 30.—The royal material testing office at Gross-Lichterfelde, a suburb of Berlin, announces the discovery that paper can be manufactured from cotton stalks. The discovery is not considered of much importance for Germany, which produces no cotton, but is pointed to as of vast importance to the United States.

The discovery was made, it is stated, by a German institution which carrying out a commission from an Egyptian firm, given before the war. A shipment of stalks were cut and ground, boiled and bleached, and the paper making then proceeded after the usual methods. The result caused the testing office to arrive at the decision that cotton stalks are good material for making paper.

New York, Aug. 7.—Lincoln B. Palmer, manager of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, said today that, although private and governmental laboratories had been seeking for years to find a suitable substitute for wood pulp in the manufacture of paper, nothing had as yet been produced that would stand the test.

"If the Germans have solved the problem," he said, "they will have rendered the United States a valuable service, and it ought to bring millions to the inventor of the process."

DEFENSE PROGRAM NEARLY COMPLETE

Conference Committee on Army Appropriation Bill Submits Complete Agreement.

DEADLOCK ON NAVAL BILL

Conferees Disagree on Big Construction Programme and Personnel Increases—Congress Making Good Progress.

Washington, Aug. 7.—National defense legislation in Congress is approaching completion. Today the conference committee on the Army Appropriation bill submitted a complete agreement and the conferees on the Naval bill voted to disagree on the big construction programme and personnel increases, the only remaining points of dispute in the measure, so that the issues might be referred back for quick settlement by the two houses themselves.

Members of the House, the majority of whom are away on vacation, will be called back to Washington for a vote on the disputed sections of the Naval bill Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

President Wilson, Navy Department officials and other adequate defense champions of the administration are expected to make a determined effort to induce House leaders to yield to the Senate programme for construction of 66 vessels, eight of them to be capital ships, during 1917. The House provided for only five capital ships. If it votes to insist on its original provisions, it is said, the Senate conferees will offer to give up the three-year continuing programme in the Senate bill, as an inducement to House leaders to reconsider and accept the big programme for the first year.

Agreement was reached by the conferees on administrative features of the personnel section, but they could not get together on the question of increases in the enlisted strength. The Senate provided for a total enlisted strength of 74,000 and the House for only 61,000.

Daniels' Plan Accepted.

Secretary Daniel's plan for promotion of navy officers by selection instead of by seniority was accepted, but was so amended that it would not apply to officers lower than the rank of commander. Provision is made for a board of nine admirals to pass on promotions and six must agree in each case. It also was agreed that captains not promoted before reaching the age of 57 shall be retired, and that commanders not promoted be retired at 45, and lieutenant commanders at 40. The conferees also raised the general retirement age limit from 62 to 64 years.

Senator Chamberlain will call up the Army Appropriation report in the Senate tomorrow. The bill as agreed on carried $267,598,000, or $85,000,000 in excess of the House bill. The War Department made an unsuccessful effort to induce the House conferees to recede from their insistence on the Hay amendment making retired officers exempt from provisions of the military code.

Among the big army appropriations as agreed to are:

For aviation $13,281,666; pay of officers of the line $10,000,000; transportation $23,000,00; clothing $20,280,000; subsistence $20,000,000; ordnance

GOVERNOR CRAIG IS TO VISIT FLOOD SECTIONS

To Make Personal Inspection of Needs for Committee.

Executive Committee Meets — Hill Says Immediate Needs Are Met, but Permanent Relief Measures Are Necessary.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 7.—It was agreed this evening by the executive committee of the General Relief Committee for flood sufferers that Governor Craig will go Saturday to Wilkesboro, for a personal "look-in" on the flood damage and needs of the people thereabouts, and go from there by earliest schedules to Morganton and Marion on a similar mission with a view to obtaining personal insight as to real needs.

Before leaving on this trip, he is to issue a statement as to the needs as they are presented in the meeting that will be held here Friday, August 11, with representatives of the county commissioners and the boards of education in the counties affected by the floods, other participants in the meeting being the members of the General Relief Committee.

The committee this evening heard a statement from John Sprunt Hill, of committee, on his personal investigations in flood sections, in which he said that immediate needs are largely met now, but that there is the direct necessity for permanent relief measures that will include the availability of a great variety of farm supplies and household equipment.

Funds Distributed.

The committee ordered a special fund of $500 to be sent to T. L. Hayes to be expended in flood sections of Yadkin county. A telegram from M. L. Ship-

SAYS NOTHING LEFT OF STATES' RIGHTS

If Child Labor Bill is Passed and Its Constitutionality Should be Upheld.

SENATOR OVERMAN SPEAKS

North Carolina Senator and Bryan, Democrat, and Works, Republican, Attack on Constitutional Grounds—Others Defend.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Senators Overman and Bryan, Democrats, and Works, Republican, attacked the administration Child Labor bill with constitutional arguments in the Senate today, the North Carolina Senator insisting that if it were upheld, nothing would be left of states' rights. Senator Bryan charged the bill was "dishonest legislation," and Senator Works declared it a step towards a despotic centralization of power.

The measure was defended by Senators Pomerene, Husting and Vardaman, Democrats. Senator Husting declared its opponents were hiding their real sentiments behind the constitutional question. Senators Brandegee and Fletcher announced their belief that the measure involves states' rights.

Senator Overman said that for a hundred years it was almost universally considered that no legislation could be enacted which was not authorized by the constitution, but now it seems to be the theory that anything not forbidden by the constitution could be enacted. He argued that the legislation should be submitted to the states in the form of a constitutional amendment. Congress, he declared, has exclusive powers over interstate commerce, but the state has the exclusive power to control its own domestic affairs. The bill, which seeks to exclude products of child labor from interstate commerce, was an attempt by Congress to do indirectly what it could not do directly, he charged.

Put It Up to Supreme Court.

Despite his belief that it is unconstitutional, Senator Works said he would vote for the bill because he thought the Supreme Court should finally pass on the question. He criticised Southern senators supporting it, charging that they were too willing to give up the rights of their state governments.

"The tendency to surrender the sovereignty of the states is particularly apparent among Democrats," he said. "I have come to think that the representatives of the Southern states will surrender any of their sovereign rights if they can get a sufficient price for them from the national treasury."

Letters urging passage of the bill were received by Senator Kern from Charles W. Eliot, Rabbi Stephen Wise and Dr. Lyman Abbott and were read into the record.

LESS THAN 3 PER CENT SICK

With 30,000 Regular and State Troops Encamped at El Paso.

El Paso, Texas, Aug. 7.—With 30,000 state and regular troops encamped here, medical reports show less than 3 per cent. of sickness, General Bell, commanding the El Paso military district announced tonight. He added that the showing is remarkable, anything under 5 per cent. generally being accounted good and said that the National Guardsmen record is as good as that of the regulars.

EAT HUMAN BODIES AND ANIMALS FOUND DEAD

Deported Armenians in Deserts of Northern Arabia.

Details of Desperate Conditions Contained in Cable Dispatches Made Public in Boston Last Night. by Committee.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 7.—Details of a desperate condition of deported Armenians in the deserts of Northern Arabia and the lower Euphrates valley are contained in a cable dispatch made public by the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief tonight. The committee says the dispatch was received through high diplomatic authority in Turkey, not American, reporting the testimony of trustworthy witnesses over wide areas in the regions mentioned.

According to the dispatch, these witnesses have seen famished Armenians eating grass, herbs and locusts, and, in desperate cases, animals found dead and human bodies are reported to have been eaten. The dispatch continues:

"The witnesses have seen thousands of deported Armenians under tents in the open, in caravans on the march, descending the rivers in boats and all phases of their miserable life. Only in a few places does the government issue any rations and those quite insufficient. The people therefore, themselves are forced to satisfy their hunger with food begged in that scanty land or found in the parched fields.

"Naturally, the death rate from starvation and sickness is very high and increased by the brutal treatment of the authorities whose bearing towards the exiles as they are being driven back and forth over the desert is not unlike that of slave drivers. With few exceptions, no shelter of any kind is provided and the people coming from a cold climate are left under the scorching desert sun without food and water."

TURKISH FORCE IN EGYPT SMASHED BY THE BRITISH ARMY

Country Declared to be Safer from Invasion Now Than at Any Time During the War.

TURKS ARE BEING PURSUED

Final Attacks of Anzac Mounted Troops, After Week of Effort, Were "Irresistible."

London, August 8. — "At sunset yesterday Turkish prospects for the conquest of Egypt were irretrievably smashed. While a crescent moon faintly lighted the desert, we pursued the defeated Turkish troops vigorously."

The British representative with the army at Romani sends this vivid description of the routing of the Turks.

Continuing, he said:

"The brunt of the fight was borne by the Anzac mounted troops, who acquitted themselves magnificently. For more than a week they had little rest, keeping in touch with the enemy, pushing back patrols and reconnoitering. Their final attacks yesterday were irresistible.

"Of the British troops the Scottish and Warwickshire Territorials and Warwick and Gloucester yeomanry fought splendidly. At midnight on Thursday the Turks in strength of one division held a north and south line through Katia-Umaisha, about seven miles long, with the flanks thrown westward. From a point south of Romani to the Mediterranean coast was the Scottish infantry, while the Anzacs in front of them from an hour before daylight fought with great steadiness and determination against the well handled enemy in superior numbers, yielding ground gradually, until Major General Lawrence could reinforce the line with more cavalry and infantry. At midday we held a line through Mahamadiya, Romani, Katia and Gannit.

"For a mile west of Romani is Wellington ridge, which the Turks made energetic attempts to reach. Two miles due south is Mount Meredith, and here and at Mount Royston, three miles northwest, the enemy managed to get a footing in the afternoon.

"The Turks had chosen what appeared to be the easiest path toward the canal, a broad, undulating, sandy plain, flanked by sand dunes. At 3 o'clock the enemy attacked fiercely Romani and Gannit, but were driven back towards Abuhamra with considerable losses.

"At 5 o'clock our infantry began an attack from the north to the south, while dismounted yeomanry moved over the sand dunes toward Mount Royston. Our artillery, rifles and machine guns cost the enemy dearly. Nothing could withstand the onslaught and we drove the enemy off Mount Royston and Wellington Ridge; then, after a brief delay, cleared Meredith, collecting a thousand prisoners and scattering the remainder of the force over the face of the desert, where the pursuit continues.

"Whether the Turks will try to hold the trenches dug by them remains to be seen, but whatever happens, Egypt is safer from invasion than at any time during the war. No finer vindication of General Murray's policy of making the Turks fight far from the canal could be given than that traffic on the waterway has not stopped for a single minute.

"The Turks fought hard, but the prisoners were delighted to be in British hands, receiving good food and abundant water. At the present writing the enemy is scattered far and wide in the desert, not in orderly column, but in small parties, and many of these doubtless will be taken prisoner. The victory is absolute."

GERMANS RECAPTURE PART OF TRENCH TAKEN BY BITISH

Berlin, Aug. 7 (via London).—German troops have re-captured portions of the trench which had been taken by the British near Pozieres, on the Somme front, it was officially announced today by the German army headquarters. The official statement regarding the western front reads:

"Near Pozieres a counter attack regained for us sections of a trench held temporarily by the British.

"Engagements have been going on since yesterday evening between Thiephal and Bazentin Le Petit. A minor French attack north of Monacu Farm last evening, and a very strong attack there this morning were repulsed completely.

"Engagements at Thiaumont ridge (Verdun front) came to an end without success for the enemy. A French attack in the forest east of the ridge was repulsed.

"Several attacks by enemy aviators at points behind the front were without great effect. Bombs thrown on Metz caused some damage."

VICE ADMIRAL KAMIMURA DEAD.

Was One of the Most Prominent Officers in Japanese Navy.

Tokio, Aug. 8.—Vice Admiral Hikonoje Kamimura, of the Japanese navy, is dead.

Vice Admiral Kamimura, who was 67 years old, was one of the most prominent officers in the Japanese navy. As commander-in-chief of the second squadron, he played an important part in the Russo-Japanese war, and is believed to have led in the naval assault with the British squadron against the German base at Tsing-Tao, China, in 1914.

HUGHES HEARD SIX TIMES IN DETROIT

"RAID UPON CIVIL SERVICE"

Declares in First Speech of Trans-Continental Tour, If Elected "I Will See to it That American Rights Are Respected."

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 7.—Charles E. Hughes, in the first set speech of his trans-continental trip, tonight assailed the administration vigorously for its foreign policy, its Mexican policy, for appointing men who he termed inexperienced to diplomatic posts and for what he characterized as a "raid upon the Civil Service of the United States."

"He kept us out of war," Mr. Hughes said, referring to the President and a Democratic campaign slogan. "Yet w eseized Vera Cruz. That was war—very ignoble war. And it was called war over the bodies of those dead soldiers; it was called a war of service.

"Talk about what is your policy. What is the President's policy—does any one know? Has the executive ever had a policy for more than six months on the Mexican question? I repeat: Who knows today what the policy of the administration will be three months hence? The trouble is that this administration has written such a record that, no matter what it says, you do not know whether it will stick to it. We have had an exhibition during the past three years which, I confess, fills m ewith a deep sense of shame. I have not a particle of militaristic spirit in my system, but if I am elected president I will see to it that American rights in Mexico are respected."

Makes Six Speeches.

Mr. Hughes spent a strenuous day in the stifling heat of Detroit. He made six speeches between noon and 10 o'clock tonight. The first talk of the day was addressed to about forty manufacturers interested in the social welfare of their employes. The second was on suffrage, both being delivered at his hotel. One hundred women heard him repeat his declaration in New York that he wanted the question speedily settled by granting women the vote through amendment to the Federal constitution.

After lunch the nominee went to the ball game, later visiting two of Detroit's great automobile factories and discussing to the men co-operation in industrial pursuits.

Between speeches he held many short conferences with local political leaders, shook hands with about 2,000 persons and managed to find time for two short naps. He lept late toinght for Chicago.

RAILWAY TRAINMEN WILL PRESENT DEMANDS TODAY

New York, Aug. 7.—Demands of 400,000 railroad men in the United States for an eight-hour day with time and a half for overtime, it is said, will be presented to the representatives of the roads for the second time tomorrow, after the official count of the strike vote has been made public.

A. B. Garretson, president of the Order of Railway Conductors; W. S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; W. A. Carter, president of the Locomotive Enginemen and Firemen, and W. G. Lee, president o fthe Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, are in the city and will re-submit the demands of the men they represent.

No doubt exists here that the official vote will be overwhelmingly in favor of a strike if the demands of the men are not met. Mr. Garretson said today that the order for the men to strike would not be given until all effort to reach an amiable agreement had failed.

GERMANS DETERMINE TO RETAKE POZIERES AT WHATEVER PRICE

Paris, Aug. 7.—A dispatch to La Liberte, dated North of France, says:

"The Germans yesterday furiously counter-attacked positions taken the day before by the British north of Pozieres. An order had been given to the units in the Pozieres sector to retake from the British at whatever cost, Hill 160, as shown by the order of the day issued by General Von Buelow and read to the troops yesterday. The order said:

"We must at whatever price regain possession of the Pozieres plateau, which, if it remains in the hands of the English, would give them a precious advantage. Attacks will be led by successive waves, separated by a distance of eighty meters. Troops which first gain footing on the plateau must remain there and await necessary reinforcement, whatever loss there may be. Any officer or man who fails to resist, even unto death on the conquered ground, will be summoned immediately before court martial.

man was read urging that aid be accorded the Bat Cave section, where he has made personal investigation. The sense of the committee was that $500 be sent this section as soon as some investigations are made.

Reports showed that North Carolina has now raised about $75,000 for the relief of flood sufferers. The general and permanent relief policy is yet to be adopted, and will scarcely be settled before the general meeting to be held Friday of this week, and the personal visitations that Governor Craig is arranging to make during the next week.

TWO SUBMARINES OFF THE COAST OF MAINE?

At Least Coast Guard Lookout Declares He Saw Them.

Sharp Watch is Kept for Them at All Points on Coast of New England. No American U-Boats Are in That Vicinity.

Portland, Me., Aug. 7.—Every point along the Maine coast watched sharply today and tonight for two submarines, believed to be foreign vessels, and possibly the long expected German merchantman Bremen and a consort. The strange vessels were reported five miles off Cross Island, near Machias, and close to Canadian waters, today by a coast guard lookout, but no word had reached here tonight to bear out the emphatic declaration from that station that they were undersea craft and were proceeding at top speed toward the west.

The vigil along the coast extended as far east as Halifax, N. S., and St. John, N. B., both of which ports reported that British naval authorities had no information regarding the presence of submarines in these waters.

During the afternoon a thick fog moved in from sea and made extended observation impossible.

The lookout at Cross Island, Lowell W. Dunn, was unable to distinguish the nationality of the strange craft which he saw, but he was insistent tonight that there could be no mistake in his identification of the vessels as submarines. Captain Small, in command of the station at Cross Island, was equally certain that Dunn's statement was correct. He said that at the time the submersibles were sighted there was no fog, and both the craft submerged about 15 minutes after the first appeared.

It was suggested that a tug towing a whaleback vessel might have accounted for the statement of Dunn that he distinctly saw one large submarine, convoyed by a smaller one. Both of themfi it was argued, might have been lost to view because of the fog rolled in and not because they had submerged. The Navy Department announced that no American submersibles were off the Maine coast.

PROPOSE HIGHER TAXES ON BIG INHERITANCES

Complete Revision of Munition Section of Revenue Bill.

Ordered Recommended to Democratic Caucus by Democratic Members of Senate Finance Committee—Income Tax.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Complete revision of the munition section of the House revenue bill and sweeping increases in the inheritance tax were ordered recommended to the Democratic caucus today by Democratic members of the Senate Finance committee. The proposed higher taxes on big inheritances would increase the estimated revenue from that section of the bill alone from $51,000,000 to $72,000,000 annually.

Retaining the House bill taxes of one per cent. on estates over $50,000 graduated up to five per cent. on those in excess of $450,000, the committee added schedules of six per cent. on net estates in excess of $1,000,000; seven per cent. on $2,000,000 to $3,000,000; 8 per cent. on $3,000,000 to $4,000,000; 9 per cent. on $4,000,000 to $5,000,000, and 10 per cent. on estates in excess of $5,000,000.

In revising the munitions tax, the committee struck out the varying rates provided in the House bill for munitions of war, powder, explosives, shells, cartridges, projectiles, products of copper and the like and decided to substitute a flat uniform tax on all of these commodities. The rate to be imposed still is to be determined.

The income tax section was completed during the day, the committee retaining the normal tax of 2 per cent. on all incomes in excess of $4,000 and $3,000, respectively, for married and single persons; retaining the sur taxes as proposed in the House bill with the exception of an increase from 10 to 13 per cent. on incomes in excess of $1,000,000. All of the proposed changes are subject to the approval of the Democratic caucus.

Employes, greeted more than 1,500 employes assembled here tonight to hear the result of the negotiations. The demonstration following this statement continued five minutes.

"We started out for the recognition of the organization," he continued," and we have won it. That was a signal victory. We started out also for the proposition of having the company deal with its men in their disputes without prejudice and we have won that."

Summer-Spoiled Skin Removed by Absorption

As undue summer exposure usually leaves an undesirable surface of tan, redness or roughness, often freckles, too, the sensible thing to do is to remove such surface. There's nothing better for this than ordinary mercolized wax, which actually absorbs an unwholesome complexion. The thin layer of surface skin is itself absorbed, gently, gradually, so there's no inconvenience, no detention in doors. Spread the wax lightly over the entire face at bedtime and take it off in the morning with warm water. If you will get one ounce of mercolized wax at the drug-store, use it for a week or so, you may expect marked improvement daily. When the underlying skin is wholly in view your complexion will be a marvel of spotless purity and beautiful whiteness.

Don't let those summer wrinkles worry you; worry breeds more wrinkles. Banish them by bathing the face in a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pt. witch hazel. Used daily for a while this will be found wonderfully effective.

MOTHER, FATHER AND CHILDREN ARE TANLAC BOOSTERS

Mrs. J. C. Jackins Continued to Suffer Until Starting Master Medicine. Husband and Children Took It Then and Gained Too.

Another instance in which more than one member of a family has been benefited through Tanlac is held in the story of Mrs. J. G. Jackins, as told the Tanlac Man:

"I suffered from kidney and liver trouble, so I was told, for over three years. My sides were very sore and some time ago I was taken with a spell of typhoid fever which left me in even worse shape. I had no appetite, was very weak, energy left me, too, and I suffered from acute attacks of indigestion which caused me considerable more worry.

"I knew how Tanlac had helped others and I tried it. Soon it had me feeling fine and now I can proudly boast of a good appetite—can eat anything and it agrees with me—soreness in my sides has disappeared, and I am strong and can sleep well and am no longer nervous. Housework is not a burden for me now.

"My husband was run down and nervous and didn't sleep well, so I had him try Tanlac, too. It helped him almost as much as it did me, and then we gave it to the children with good results. Tanlac is a household remedy with me, and I think it a fine tonic and the best all around medicine I ever saw," concluded Mrs. Jackins, of 407 East Twenty-second street, Charlotte.

Tanlac is sold in Wilmington only by the Bellamy Drug Store; Watson's Pharmacy, Southport; Acme Store Co., Acme; C. L. Halstead, Burgaw; A. N. Rhodes & Co., Rocky Point; G. W. Kirby, Supply; Bradham Drug Co., New Bern; C. L. Southall, Magnolia. Each town has its Tanlac druggist.—adv.

ORCHESTRA TO TOUR STATE.

Don Richardson's Company to Give Concerts Under Auspices of U. D. C.

Arrangements have just been completed whereby the well known Don Richardson Orchestra, which plays annually during the summer season at Lumina, will make a tour of the State under the auspices of the United Daughters of the Confederacy during October and November. The tour will be finished in time for Don Richardson to play his regular winter engagement in New York.

This year's orchestra is probably the most brilliant aggregation that Mr. Richardson has ever brought to Wilmington, and a splendid performance may be expected by the cities that have been fortunate enough to secure bookings. The fact that Richardson is a native North Carolinian should prove a good drawing card throughout the State.

HERE FOR WEEK-END.

U. S. Senator Smith, of South Carolina, Visited at Winter Park.

United States Senator Ellison D. Smith, of South Carolina, who spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stevenson Brown at Winter Park, where his wife is a guest, returned to Washington last night.

Senator Smith stated yesterday that the child labor bill, which is now before the Senate, was practically assured of becoming a law. The extremely hot weather, and the unusual amount of work that has been before Congress, makes the coming adjournment a welcome event to members of both houses, said Senator Smith.

GREAT BRITAIN READY TO OPEN NEGOTATIONS

For Feeding Civilian Populations of German Occupied Areas.

London, Aug. 7.—The foreign office tomorrow will send a memorandum to Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador, which will leave the way open for a resumption of the negotiations for feeding the civilian population of the German occupied areas, the conditions for which, as laid down by Great Britain, were recently rejected by Germany. The memorandum will suggest that the United States government can re-open the question if it regards such a step advisable and useful.

Germany's reply rejecting the British offer, which has already been published in the United States, and Great Britain's reply thereto will be made public here within a few days. The British reply will deny the contentions of Germany that the proposals were too long delayed and that, owing to favorable crop prospects, relief action could apparently be dispensed with after October 1, and also that the next harvest would provide for the needs of the people with the exception of certain periods when their condition would be straightened The reply will say that the first contention is false and that reports in the posession of the British government refute the latter.

BOYS HAVE FINE OUTING

Spend the Week-End on Masonboro Sound—Plenty of Recreation.

Under the direction of Mr. C. W. Johnson, Boys' work secretary, the first week-end camp of the Y. M. C. A. was held Saturday and Sunday on Masonboro Sound. Nineteen boys were in attendance, and considerable more are expected at the future camps.

Saturday afternoon was spent in getting the camp in shape, after which the boys were refreshed by a long swim in the sound. Following supper, ghost stories were told around the camp fire, and numerous camp fire yarns were exchanged.

Sunday morning the boys were up early to take an early morning plunge in the sound. The camp paper was read, and some corking good stories were told by Mr. K. B. Knudsen and Mr. D. H. Howes, Jr. At camp inspection, Tent No. 1, in charge of Mr. Knudsen was awarded the prize for being the best kept tent in the camp. Sunday schools services were held under the direction of Mr. Johnson at 10:30 o'clock.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Thedford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whittaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble.

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Thedford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.

Your druggist sells and recommends Black-Draught. Price only 25c. Get a package to-day. N. C. 63

HOW TO BE SLIM

If you are too fat and want to reduce your weight 15 or 20 pounds, don't starve and weaken your system, or think you must always be laughed at on account of your fat, but go to Elvington's Pharmacy or any good druggist, and get a box of Oil of Korein capsules, take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week and note what a pleasant and reliable method this is for removing superfluous fat from any part of the body.

It costs little, is absolutely harmless, and a week's trial should convince anyone that it is unnecessary to be burdened with even a single pound of unsightly fat.

BEST TONIC IS S.S.S.

Few people get through the winter and spring without attacks from one of the many blood maladies that leave them weak and unfit to meet the trying warm season, and the blood so freighted with poisons that it is incapable of supplying the energy and tissue building properties necessary to health.

This condition is revealed in many ways, and by many symptoms, but all point to one thing—infected blood. And just as surely they call for the one true and tried S. S. S.

It insures blood purity and health. S. S. S. for 50 years has been the standard treatment for all blood troubles. Catarrh, rheumatism, malaria, skin diseases, and other troubles arising from impure and impoverished blood yield to S. S. S. The best tonic.

Get S. S. S. from the drug store, and regain your health. Don't take a substitute. It is guaranteed purely vegetable. Write us for free medical advice. Address Medical Department 55, Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

A new Kodak in a new size

Pictures 2⅝ x 4⅝

The 2C Autographic Kodak Jr.

Just as surely as the 3A (post card size) picture displaced the 4x5, this 2C will displace the 3¼x4¼. The elongated shape, used horizontally is better for landscapes—it doesn't waste film on sky and foreground. It is better for portraits when used vertically for it gives the high, narrow picture. It gives more picture for the area than is usually possible in a square—and the shape of the picture is far more pleasing.

And this elongated shape in the picture makes possible a slim, thin, easily pocketed camera. The 2C Autographic Kodak Junior has a capacity of ten exposures without reloading, it has the Kodak Ball Bearing shutter with cable release, working at speeds of 1-25, 1-50 and 1-100 of a second and of course the usual "bulb" and time actions. The camera has brilliant reversible finder, two tripod sockets, black leather bellows, is covered with fine grain leather, is well made and beautifully finished. It is furnished with a choice of lens equipment as listed below.

FAYETTEVILLE TEAM HAS BEEN STRENGTHENED FOR FINAL DASH

Fayetteville, Aug. 7.—The Fayetteville Cape Fear League team has been strengthened for the final dash down the home stretch by the addition of two class C players. These are Massey, an outfielder and catcher from the Portsmouth Truckers of the Virginia League, and Pickett, a third baseman, also from the Old Dominion circuit. Pickett is expected to strengthen the infield immensely, while Massey will fill a gap in the outfield caused by the necessity of shifting Rivers from left field to the catcher's position following an injury to McNeill's hand last week. The new man will also help out behind the plate. The acquisition of the two Virginia leaguers is expected to add hitting strength to the team.

The Kilties play Raeford here Tuesday and Wednesday, of this week.

NORFOLK PLAYING "STRIKE-BREAKERS" LOSE TO BUILDERS

Newport, News, Aug. 7.—Playing two regulars and seven "strike breakers," the Norfolk club of the Virginia League today lost to Newport News 15 to 1. The game was attended by less than 200 people and it is predicted here that the league cannot last through the season.

President F. B. Walker, of the Norfolk club, explained that his players quit, claiming they had not been paid their salaries and that the amateurs will represent Norfolk in an attempt to keep the franchise.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Chester Thomas, the Boston Americans' catcher, and Jimmy Austin, third baseman of the St. Louis Americans, were indefinitely suspended today by President Johnson, for their participation in a fist fight in St. Louis yesterday.

PETITION OF OWNERS OF THE APPAM DENIED

Court Permits Respondents to Give Supersedeas Bond.

Effect is to Preserve the Status of the Vessel, to Remain in the Custody of the Federal Courts—Order Not Signed.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 7.—Denying the petition of the British owners of the Appam for the release of the vessel to them under bond, pending the disposition of the appeal of the German government, Judge Waddill, in the United States district court today, permitted the respondents to give a supersedeas bond. The effect of this will be to preserve the status of the vessel, that it will remain in the custody of the Federal courts, a sufficient bond being given by the respondents to cover any damage to the libellants in case the Supreme Court sustains Judge Waddill in deciding in favor of the British.

The order permitting the respondents to give a supersedeas bond was not signed by Judge Waddill today, counsel for both sides asking for more time in which to prepare it. A conference between the attorneys was held this afternoon and the order will be presented tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. The question of bonding the Appam came up this morning, Judge Frederick Lehmann, of St. Louis, general solicitor under President Taft, qualifying to practice in the District court. He has been retained by the German government to carry its appeal to the Supreme Court.

Howard T. Kingsbury, one of the attorneys for the British owners, asked that the court tak exclusive possession of the vessel as the libellants did not desire any interlopers, the members of the German prize crew which brought the Appam into port, aboard.

service was but a matter of a few years.

Lieut. Paul L. Cantwell, of the Second North Carolina regiment, gave a brief but vivid description of the routine camp life. "I have attended every encampment of the North Carolina militia for the past 15 years," he said, "and feel qualified to speak with authority on the subject." He pictured the benefits to be derived from the physical exercises, drills and hikes, that go toward making the camp life complete.

In the concluding talk of the evening, Mr. Cullough told of the numerous trades and crafts that were necessary to make a complete engineering unit. This feature alone, he thought, was well worth the time of any young man. No one he said, could serve an enlistment in this branch of the service, and not be greatly benefited, both mentally and physically. He gave a very instructive outline of the benefits to be derived from military training.

VISIT BRUNSWICK TOMORROW

Two Score Wilmington Citizens Promise to Aid in Packing House Campaign in Nearby Counties.

Two score Wilmington men have already promised to assist in the seven-day campaign that is to start tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock at the City Hall and they will spend one or more days during that time in visiting other nearby counties. It is expected that there will be many more to join in this campaign which has for its object the building of a great packing house in Wilmington.

The first day will be devoted to Brunswick county, and four meetings will be held, one at Winnabow at 9 o'clock, one at Bolivia at 11; one at Supply at 1:30, and one at Shallotte at 3:30.

There will probably be five or six cars full for this trip and the special will be under the command of Mr. W. W. Love, chairman of the organization committee of the packing house. Mr. Love is enthusiastic over the prospects for the packing house and he is greatly pleased with the way in which the business men are receiving the proposition.

In the canvass through the city yesterday and Friday, about 50 business men were seen and all but a half dozen readily agreed to go on a trip and those who could not go, were anxious to send a representative of their business, as they all recognize it as a worthy proposition and one that is very popular with the people.

While no subscriptions have been solicited, quite a number have been volunteered and the indications are that when the time comes for taking subscriptions, it will be simply a question of asking for them.

It has been generally agreed that of the $100,000 to be raised, Wilmington will take $70,000 of this and the outlying counties will take $30,000.

Those who may not be seen by the committee today and who wish to be with the party tomorrow, will please telephone Mr. Love or Mr. Milton Calder at the American Trust Bank.

Following are some of those who have promised to join the "Packing House Special" for one or seven-day campaign: A. B. McNair, A. H. High, Dr. L. B. Sasser, F. T. Mills, C. H. Batson, J. Irvin Bear, Platt Davis, W. I. Baxter, D. H. Bryan, F. E. Hashagen, L. W. Davis, J. W. Brooks, H. Lacy Hunt, A. B. Croom, Jr., T. E. Brown, H. L. Vollers, Horace Pearsall, H. H. Elliott, I. W. SEMINOLE GETS LONG CALL

Coast Guard Cutter Leaves to Assist Steamer Ashore on Southern Florida Coast.

With a journey of approximately 500 miles ahead of her, the coast guard cutter Seminole steamed out of the port of Wilmington at 8:45 o'clock last night in response to a rush order from Washington, received yesterday afternoon, to proceed to the assistance of the steamer Sangstad, reported ashore two miles from Jupiter Inlet light on the southern coast of Florida. The condition of the vessel was not reported. The Sangstad is a Norwegian tramp steamer of 450 tons, in command of Captain Emmanuelsen.

This call for the Seminole, which is commanded by Capt P. H. Uberroth, comes from an extraordinary distance. This is due to the fact that the revenue cutter Yamacraw, stationed at Savannah, is out of commission for repairs and the cutter Tampa, stationed at Key West, is on "ice patrol" in the Gulf stream. It is probable that the Seminole would not have been called, had either of the cutters stationed at the nearer ports been available.

The steamer Sangstad left Boston July 18 for Baltimore, where she reported on July 21, proceeding later for Honduras. She had not been reported since leaving Baltimora.

The Seminole was expected to leave about 7 o'clock but was delayed by some minor trouble in the engine room, it was said.

OFFICERS ARE ENTHUSIASTIC

Big Rally in Interest of Engineering Company Held at Fifth and Castle Streets Several Enlist.

Several recruits were received for the Wilmington company of engineers North Carolina National Guard, as a result of the big rally held at Fifth and Castle streets last night when stirring addresses were made by Lieut. Paul L. Cantwell, N. C. N. G., Mr. F. H. McCullough, a former member of the Pennsylvania National Guard, and Master Gunner J. C. McGurley, of Fort Caswell.

The officers of the engineering company are enthusiastic over the prospects for an early departure for the Mexican border. Only a few places are left in the Wilmington company and the indications are that it will shortly be mustered into active service. Another open air meeting will be held at Front and Market streets tonight at 8 o'clock.

There was quite a large gathering of men at the rally last night and martial airs by the Delgado concert band kept it from seeming to be hot while the addresses were much to the point and gave those present a very clear and incisive insight into the work of the engineers. Capt. E. P. Bailey and Capt. E. A. Metts and L. Clayton Grant, Esq., scheduled to speak, were unable to be present.

Master Gunner McGurley, in illustrating the duties of the engineers in time of war, stated that the word "engineer" was derived from the French word "essayon," meaning "Let us try." This said Mr. McGurley was to be the motto of the corps. Continuing, he said that no branch of the service required a more intelligent personnel than did the engineers. He showed how helpless the other branches would be without their help and co-operation. In time of actual war, the Wilmington company would probably have charge of the roads and wharves about the city, he said. In regard to the army fare Mr. McGurley said that he had had 11 years experience in the regular army, and that the only trouble he had with the grub was in keeping his weight down. He believed that compulsory military

TOP O' THE MORNING.

The greatest man that ever sailed the Mediterranean sea was not Pericles, nor Alexander, nor Hannibal, nor Caesar, but Paul. His shadow lies upon Europe as does that of no other man in its history.

—GEORGE A. GORDON.

There are just as many prophets now as there were in the days of old.

Is it possible to snatch the moss from the backs of the mossbacks."

"There's no place like home." Maybe that's the reason some men seem to like a beer garden the best.

It was Richmond Henry Dana who said: "Better be driven out from among men than to be disliked of children." Yes, and little friends are the best of friends.

A New York beauty doctor declares that anything can be made beautiful, but think how dangerous it would be to make a beauty out of Uncle Joe without making some kind of alteration in his politics.

The Russians claim that they are taking one town right after another, which is a plain intimation that the Turks are taking just as many sneaks as the Russians take towns. The Turks seem to sneak away in time to keep the Russians from catching them and doing something to them.

They are now telling us that though there are submarines, there also are "blodhounds of the sea" that will get them. It is said they are going to have undersea eavesdroppers that will locate an undersea craft by the greatly magnified sound that the ether in the water conveys to the ear.

Well, the ladies are persistent in the idea that they should be clothed with the right to vote. They have kept right on till they have made it a nation campaign issue. We knew all along that the states would hang back and force the question into national politics, just where it does not belong.

They say it won't grow, but it will. Everything grows in the Nation's Garden Spot. The Progressive Farmer of Saturday illustrates some of the forage, feeding and pasture crops that grow to perfection in the South. We can name twenty such crops that grow amazingly and produce enormously all around Wilmington. This offers us the greatest opportunity that lies within our grasp. When all of us become convinced of it, we will wonder what we have been doing all this time.

Now that cotton is selling at 13 1-4 cents a pound, Republicans will tell you that Wilson had nothing to do with it, that the war in Europe is solely responsible. Less than two years ago when cotton was bringing only half the present price, the same Republicans said the war in Europe had nothing to do with it, that Wilson was solely responsible. That is only a typical example of the logic and reasonableness of the average Republican argument, and yet they seem to believe the average voter is fool enough to be influenced by what they say.

Republican papers boobishly demand the recall of the National Guard from the Mexican border on account of its alleged inefficiency. The commanding officer of the army asked that the Guard be sent to safeguard an exposed border of 1,850 miles, preferring the Guardsmen because they do know something about drilling, discipline and camp life. The general's idea was that 100,000 National Guardsmen would be of more service to him than a mob of a million interventionists who would skin up each other's feet in attempting to escape from a lot of trained bandits. A reward of $10,000 is offered for 100 respectable interventionists who will enlist in the regular army for service in Mexico.

NO ROOM FOR TREASONABLE AMERICANISM.

When the matter of enlisting men for the necessary protection of their country is made a matter of politics by ranting Republican orators and malicious Republican papers, there is no wonder at all that the young men of this country are not disposed to enlist in the army to perform their patriotic duties.

There is neither sense of Americanism nor preparedness in any political party which puts politics before patriotism, When Americans are called to the colors, they are supposed to respond as patriots and not as partisans of the party in power or the party out of power and out of issues and out of Americanism. Real Americans ought to take notice of the fact that the Republican party has degenerated into a partisan group whose candidate for president and whose national convention has lined up with Huerta, Villa, Carranza, the Kaiser, King George, and all other foreign potentates with whom the American government has had controversies. No wonder they all ignore American policies when they observe that an American party sides with any or all of them against the American President. Partisan politicians in this country have more than once created the impression in Mexico, Germany and Great Britain that Americans do not endorse President Wilson's contentions but actually have a contempt for them. The fact is, a man actually is running for president on the issue of repudiating the American side of every contention that the American government has had with every foreign country, even the negro republic of San Domingo.

If that isn't treason, as Senator J. Hamilton Lewis terms it, we would like to know what other word conveys a stronger meaning than treason. We confess that we are dismayed at the monstrous political idea that if the people would repudiate a Democratic president's contentions with foreign antagonists, they would just as readily repudiate a Republican president's foreign policy. When would foreign countries ever know when to respect any American policy if it is to be made a party matter instead of a national contention backed by Americans without regard to politics? Any nation would ignore any American policy if it were certain that either one or the other of the political parties would line up with the aliens against their own government. It is not only a shameful evidence of poltroonery but a dangerous national attitude to strike before foreign nations.

Seriously, we think it is about time for Americanism to gravely consider whether any party can make the nation's cause in a controversy with a foreign government a matter of partisan politics. It will be a woeful day for America when the President is uncertain as to whether the people will side with him or some foreign country. Any foreign country, by the aid of either the Republican or the Democratic party, could humiliate the president of the United States of America. We wonder if Americans have so degenerated that they would stand for that!

Judge Hughes is asking the American people to repudiate President Wilson and take the foreign side of America's controversies, but he has made the issue and it is up to the American people to repudiate him instead. We are sorry that he could not run on his own merits instead of introducing a new element of danger to the Republic. Just what would Judge Hughes say if the campaign involved an issue repudiating the Supreme Court for a decision affecting our international relations?

We don't think there ought to be any recognition in this country for the treasonable Americanism that would repudiate a Republican or a Democratic president for his conscientious maintenance of an American cause against an alien controversialist—especially when that cause involves peace or war as the alternative.

TEMPORARY PROSPERITY IN NEW ENGLAND

If the Republicans will read the commercial and financial journals they will note a curious phase of all this temporary prosperity under the Wilson administration. The cloth mills at Fall River, Mass., complain that they are behind on their orders, because the employes of the mills insist on taking their usual summer vacation. It seems that the working people are so prosperous that they can afford to take a summer jaunt, regardless of the fact that this is an awfully busy summer with the manufacturers. However, the absenteeism of the operators causes the mills to fall off in their production, while orders are on hand and the manufacturers are anxious to run on full time to keep up with the demand on them.

The mill workers go off on their vacations because the weather is good, and when it is bad they don't show up for work. Running the mills night and day and getting industrious operators to work overtime is the only way that the mills can manage, and yet one group of mills is behind in orders to the tune of 70,000 pieces of cloth that should have long since been sent off according to contract. This is how the Fall River commercial report closes:

"The Fall River Iron Works Company is operating its automatic looms an extra hour daily using up surplus yarn, and several fine goods concerns still operate their preparatory and spinning departments nights to supply yarn for surplus looms. In spite of this help there is a net curtailment for the week in the cloth mills of about 70,000 pieces.

"One hundred and fifty weavers of the Barnhard Manufacturing Company are out on strike because of dissatisfaction with weaving prices. The management claims that large advances in weaving prices made this year have put the Barnard weavers on a good basis of wages for the sort of work done, as comapred with weavers of other mills here.

"The American Printing Company and Algonquin Printing Company are operating their plants on full time and at full capacity, and shipping their prints out as fast as they are made to keep up to requirements for deliveries on contracts."

Of course, all this prosperity might be temporary, but it is keeping up at present and is just as liable to continue if either Wilson or Hughes is elected in November. It is just as liable to cease with Hughes as president as it would be with Wilson as President. Neither one of them is buying anything in Fall River, and neither one of them can keep orders from going to Fall River. That great manufacturing centre is enjoying its great Democratic prosperity as much as if Hughes were president.

HIS NIBS AND OTHER NIBS.

The devil also is a clever, adroit, persuasive, slick sort of article. Even now no Republican candidate can beat him making promises without being at all able to deliver the goods. One of the biggest promises B. L. Zebub ever made was that when he actually guaranteed wisdom to the human race if Eve would simply eat that apple. She simply did it and it is so that lots of her descendants inherited credulity from her to such an extent that a slick-tongued Republican is liable to persuade them to believe that prosperity is entirely a political matter and in no wise a matter of economics.

His Nibs was the original egoistiac and it was he who originated the Big Business idea of owning and controlling the earth. He actually offered to give it away, but he had the nerve to go up into "an high mountain" and make his promise as spectacular as possible. He failed because he was a fraud and pretender of the rankest description. Nevertheless, the Republican spell-binders will take to such an insignificant thing as The Stump and make as many impossible promises as Old Nick himself. They'd actually promise him prosperity in spite of Billy Sunday.

However, the main idea at this time is whether men are going to stand around the political stump and be persuaded to buy a gold brick and then bet it on the ponies. A hobby horse with hair on it can come as near winning the Grand Prix as Republican spell-binders in North Carolina can to winning Tar Heel Democrats who know the safest thing they can do for the State is to "stick to the party."

General Funston, who was one of the best creations of President Roosevelt, as good as says that some of the newspaper correspondents along the Mexican border are writing a pack of lies about the military and Mexican situations in general. He threatens to drive them away, but such ruthless and "usurpiousness" action as that would utterly destroy the Republican campaign plan to get the Mexican situation lied about in general for political reasons. The General should understand that Judge Hughes' paramount issue is the Mexican situation, and that if he does not let the correspondents do the campaign lying the Mexican-Huerta-Villa issue will be as flat as a cast iron sewer cover.

The G. O. P. is floundering around for lack of a campaign issue. Wilson's foreign policy looked like one to them, but it is liable to make the people laugh. They can see for themselves that Wilson's foreign policy accounts for Germany's abandonment of her submarine warfare on unarmed ships and that it has the Mexicans marking time and proposing to join this country in efforts to prevent war. If that does not beat either war of jingoism, what the thunder is the matter with it? It is all a joke that the Republicans pretend to prefer war to successful diplomacy. They are hard up for an issue that has no resemblance to an issue. Don't the people know it?

The news that the Germans, who have contributed much to the world of science and invention, have discovered that paper may be made from cotton stalks is interesting, if true. Just now when the price of news print has gone by leaps and bounds to the highest prices in the history of the industry, the quicker the invention reaches this side, the better for the hundreds of harassed publishers who are now facing a famine of the raw product even at the unprecedented prices.

DEATH AT FAYETTEVILLE.

Mr. Stansbury Monroe, Valued Citizen, Passes Away.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., Aug. 7.—Stansbury Monroe, son of Mrs. Mary Agnes Monroe, died at the home of his mother on Haymount, at 1 o'clock Sunday morning, after a long period of ill health. Mr. Monroe's health had been failing for a number of years, and his death was not wholly unexpected. At the time of his death his sister, Mrs. S. H. Hobbs, was at Black Mountain and owing to the flood conditions could not at first be heard from. Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs arrived here last night, however. The funeral was held at 4 o'clock this afternoon from the residence, being conducted by Rev. W. R. Royall, pastor of the Hay Street Methodist church, by special request.

Mrs. W. H. Coffey, another sister, had just returned from Johnson City, Tenn., where she went to attend her husband's funeral last week.

Mr. Monroe was a fine type of young man and his death occasions genuine sorrow to many friends. He was the son of the late Malcomb Monroe and Mary Agnes Minor, and was 35 years old. He is survived by his mother and three sisters, Mrs. J. A. Clark, of Longstreet, and Mrs. W. H. Coffey and Mrs. S. H. Hobbs, of this city.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The tobacco market at Fairmont bids fair to be the equal of other years. The sales opened Tuesday, August 1, as per schedule and a good sale was pulled off at each warehouse. The prices were good considering the quality and the sale was very satisfactory. Fairmont has always been a splendid tobacco market and in spite of the drawbacks caused by early rains, this year we believe and hope will be another good one.—Fairmont Messenger.

An accephalous presidential ticket is something of a rarity, but though the Progressives will cut a sorry figure in the electrocal count, they have at least demonstrated their consistency and sincerity in keeping Mr. Parker in the field and is reading out of the party councils the men who deserted them. The Louisiana candidate serves the purpose of keeping the Progressive banner flying as a protest against the Chicago sell-out. A better day may dawn for them in the future. Meanwhile, they make plain what they think of the traitors and will help to punish them by voting for Wilson.—Baltimore Sun.

"The first silo erected in Manatee county is being filled with corn at the O. C. Benbow farm, south of Manatee," says the Bradentown Journal. Telling that the silo, which is of course, a huge round storage vat for taking care of green feed, was made with unskilled labor and cost only about $150, including the machine for cutting and storing the feed, the Journal says that the capacity is one hundred tons, and that Mr. Benbow expects to feed a considerable number of cattle from now on of this green food. The silo is of staves, made of dressed lumber, thirty feet long, and is on a concrete base. The dimensions are fourteen feet in diameter and thirty feet high. Silos are now being put up in various parts of the State and the use of them will be greatly extended as their facilities and excellent features become better understood.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

From an unexpected source comes the best answer that has as yet been made to those who have critized President Wilson's policy of dealing with Germany on the ground that by that policy he has virtually put this government on the side of the Allies. More than once the charge has been made that the President, although pretending to be neutral, is altogether unneutral. Against these critics the President has a new defender. As the German submarine, Deutschland, was leaving Baltimore the captain's last words were words of praise for America and for his treatment by the authorities of this country. He said: "We came here dubious about our reception. We go back certain that the friendliest of feeling exists in America for Germany. You have been more than courteous and the Fatherland will not forget it." The Deutschland's visit to American shores, where it was given the fullest protection while it unloaded its cargo and reloaded for the return voyage, proves to the world that the American government is strictly neutral in this war, and that this country will sell supplies to Germany as readily as it sells them to England, if Germany, like England, will come and get what she wants.—Winston-Salem Journal.

Signs are that Mr. Hughes' speeches in the West will multiply the chances of the Democrats. Large audiences will probably hear him in the cities in which he speaks. As he is the leader of his party, his utterances will be authoritative and hearers will be attracted, in the hope of at least learning what policies he will pursue if elected. If Mr. Hughes' "great speech" be repeated throughout the West the necessity of sending Democratic speakers over the same territory will seem less urgent. The New York correspondent of the Boston Transcript says that railroad officials estimate that the Republican candidate will travel more than 30,000 miles before the end of the campaign. His western trip will be followed by an excursion into Maine. But that will not be all, for "during September and October Mr. Hughes will travel faster and speak more often than he will this month." All of which promises much for Democratic success in November. It is announced that Mr. Fairbanks will also make a campaign tour later on and will go over practically the same course as that covered by Mr. Hughes. Was this plan inspired by the hope of alleviating the impression which Mr. Hughes will leave upon his hearers? The Republicans knew what they were about when they nominated Fairbanks. —Columbia State.

The Southern Railway Company takes considerable interest in the development of the textile industry in the territory served by its lines and with good reason for the Southern traverses the most populous cotton mill section in the world. Each year this company publishes a pamphlet giving a list of the mills on its lines and each succeeding pamphlet makes a steady record of gains in spindles and looms. The list of mills in operation in the Southern's territory in 1916 has just been printed and the figures are interesting as revealing the progress being made in that line. There are now 827 textile plants along the Southern Railway, and these plants operate 9,865,248 spindles and 214,467 looms. There are at this time 11 new mills under construction, all except three being in this State. North Carolina and South Carolina are the premier cotton manufacturing states in the South. The Tar Heel State now has in operation 261 cotton mills against 164 for the Palmetto state. But there is a difference slightly in favor of South Carolina in size of mills. The North Carolina mills operate 46,935 spindles and 2,768,422 looms, against 98,964 and 3,921,481 respectively for South Carolina. The relative growth of the textile industry in the two states may be best understood by a comparison of the figures for 1914 and 1916. Within the period covered, North Carolina has gained 787 spindles against 511 for South Carolina, and it has made a gain of 225,306 looms, against 27,479 for South Carolina. If North Carolina keeps up this lick another two years it will stand at the head of all the textile states in America? The figures given of the knitting industry also carry an interesting story. There are 70 knitting mills in North Carolina against 12 in South Carolina. It must be remembered that these figures cover only the territory traversed by the Southern Railway. There is a large textile industry served by the Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line and by branch roads. The Southern's statement, however, is indicative of the trend of textile development in the South.—Charlotte Observer.

DETERMINED ATTACKS ON BRITISH LINES REPULSED.

London, Aug. 7.—Determined attacks on the British lines north and northeast of Pozieres this morning were repulsed, according to the British official statement issued tonight. The Germans succeeded in entering the British lines at one or two places, but were driven out. Says the statement:

"North and northeast of Pozieres the enemy delivered two determined attacks on our new lines between 4 and 5 o'clock this morning. After a heavy bombardment he entered our trenches at one or two places, but was driven out again, losing many casualties and leaving some prisoners in our hands.

"Two further strong attacks were made at 8:50 in the morning with exactly similar results. Soon after 4 in the afternoon another feeble attack was repulsed, more prisoners were taken.

"In front of Souchez the enemy exploded a mine and a few minutes later some of his parties entered our trenches over the crater. They were immediately bombed out again.

"At Zwartelen the enemy sprang another small mine without effect. The enemy artillery has been active near Bethune, LaBasse canal and Loos. The result in casualties and damage was negligible. Our guns retaliated vigorously."

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 7.—Because of the press of business affairs, it was announced today that Governor Craig has postponed his visit to Morehead City and Camp Glenn. He was to have reviewed the troops tomorrow. Although his visit has been postponed indefinitely, he will go to Camp Glenn some time during the month.

Hickory, N. C., Aug. 7.—The engine and one baggage car of the Southern Railway passenger train No. 36, east bound from Old Fort to Salisbury, were derailed 36 miles from here today, near Nebo. The engineer and fireman were slightly injured.

HOW OLD ARE YOU BY YOUR HAIR?

You may be thirty in years, but if you are baldheaded or gray, people will surely take you to be many years older.

Dandruff is the root of most hair evils. If it were not for the little destructive germs working with a persistency worthy of a better cause there would be but little baldness, and less people prematurely gray.

Parisian Sage will help you to keep young looking and attractive.

It is guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy to make hair grow and stop falling hair; to remove every bit of dandruff; to stop itching of the scalp almost instantly.

Parisian Sage is one of the most invigorating, satisfying, and pleasant hair dressings made; it makes the hair soft, luxuriant and handsome; it is especially praised by women who love beautiful, soft and lustrous hair. Parisian Sage is sold by druggists everywhere, and a large bottle never costs more than 50 cents.

Ivy Poisoning.

SOME people are very susceptible to skin inflammation when they come in contact with certain vegetable growths. In some instances the pollen of these plants, just wafted on skin by the wind, suffice to cause most painful eruptions. There are some sixty plants that may give rise to this condition. Those most frequently met with are the poison ivy, sumach and oak. Individuals vary greatly in susceptibility; some suffer by just being near the plants, whilst others may handle them without any harm. This skin inflammation, which doctors call dermatitis venenata, may be only a redness with itching and heat of the skin; or there are a few scattered pimples, or there are the most diffuse and painful blisters, pustules and blebs. The hands, arms and face are usually involved, and at times the inflammation may extend over the whole body, especially the folds of the skin. The effects of exposure show themselves in from a few hours to four or five days, and the inflammation may last from one to six weeks, there being throughout great distress. The poisoning principle is a volatile acid; and this may be conveyed, in an early stage of the affection, from one part of the body to another, or to a second person. However, after the poison has been absorbed or removed by washing there is no risk of contagion. A curious phenomenon about dermatitis venenata is that year after year, about the time when the original disease was suffered, the inflammation recurs although the patient has been careful to be far away from any poisonous plant.

We must in all cases begin the treatment of such a skin inflammation by washing the parts thoroughly with soap and water to get rid of the poisonous principle. Then we must use one of the following applications: Black wash, which the druggist will supply and which must be thoroughly shaked before applying. Or lead and opium wash. Or a tablespoonful of grindelia robusta to a pint of water. Or a two per cent. solution of creolin. Sterile gauze or very clean cloths must be soaked in one of these preparations, applied loosely over the inflamed skin, and secured with a gauze bandage. Then put oiled silk over the whole to keep the moisture in. Every two hours remove the oiled silk, and re-saturate the gauze, which has been drying in the meantime.

At bed time and in order to secure for the sufferer some sleep it will be well to remove the gauze and to lave the parts in a saturated solution of boracic acid (one teaspoonful to the pint of water) with twenty drops of pure carbolic acid to the pint of the solution. Then the lead and opium wash or any of the lotions mentioned can be re-applied and so the patient is made comfortable for the night.

TUBERCULOSIS.

J. S. J. writes: Will you please advise whether a daughter, whose father died of tuberculosis a few years ago, is apt to contract the disease as quickly as a son.

Answer: There is no difference. But you must remember that tuberculosis is very little a hereditary or a family disease; it is in most cases a house disease, contracted in insanitary homes and workshops. A father or a mother very seldom transmits the disease itself to their offspring; although either may transmit a weakened condition of the body which will make it susceptible to the tuberculosis germ. This evil can be avoided by healthful living and cleanliness in the home.

DIABETES.

A. H. asks: 1. What kind of flour can a patient with diabetes use. Gluten bread leaves a bitter taste. 2. Are whole wheat or Graham bread all right? 3. Is rye bread suitable?

Answer: 1. Gluten flour is the best—gluten bread, gems, porridge, wafers, gluten griddle cakes, or biscuits, gluten nuts, gluten porridge, fried gluten mush, almond bread and cakes, charred bread, bran cakes, soya bread, rye bread. 2. No. 3. Yes. Several articles on diabetes will shortly appear in this column.

ANNUAL MEETING OF BOARD OF EDUCATION

Committeemen Elected and Budget Made for Ensuing Year.

Change Made in Boundaries of Hemenway and Bear Memorial Districts. Commercial Course Adopted for the High School.

The election of committeemen for the different school districts in the city and county, the arrangement of a budget for the ensuing year, the adoption of a commercial course for the Wilmington High School and the re-arrangement of the boundaries of the Isaac Bear Memorial and Hemenway school districts were the chief matters receiving attention at the annual meeting of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon. The adoption of a definite educational requirement for all new teachers to be employed was a forward step taken that is expected to result in improving the schools of both city and county.

It was tentatively arranged that the city schools should open for their fall term on Monday, October 2nd, the fall term ending December 22nd, and the spring term ending May 18th, making a total of 32 weeks, after allowing ten days for the Christmas vacation. The high school will end June 1st. The rural schools will begin on Monday, September 18th, the fall term ending December 22nd and the spring term ending May 4th, this constituting a total term of 32 weeks.

The resolution authorizing the introduction of a commercial course in the High School, as outlined some time ago after conferences, provides that there shall be employed an additional teacher, who will give his exclusive time to teaching strictly commercial subjects, while the subsidiary courses will be given by other members of the faculty. The arrangement of the courses of study and curriculum is left with the superintendent and the principal, although the board went on record as favoring revising High School curriculum so as to include more elective studies and allowing students to graduate in practical courses.

The budget as arranged yesterday by the Board of Education after very thorough and careful consideration is as follows:

"NO RIGHTS PERTAINING TO SAFETY DELEGATED"

Declares Resolution Adopted by Council Last Night.

Councilmanic Committee is Authorized to Proceed With Its Investigation on Ordinance Providing Two-Men to Car System.

The regular session of City Council last night was featured by the adoption of a resolution "that Council did not delegate any of its rights pertaining to public safety" to the committee of one hundred, and further authorizing that the special Councilmanic committee, to whom was referred the matter of an ordinance providing that street cars should not be operated in the city with less than two persons, to proceed with their investigation of the proposition.

This action was taken by Council following the reading of the report of its committee, consisting of Councilmen W. F. Jones, chairman; L. M. Bunting, and W. J. Bradshaw, which recommended that Council define clearly its position with reference to the matters involved and particularly to determine by what, if any, authority of the Council the committee of 100 citizens was appointed, and if such committee was appointed by the authority or approval of the Council, whether Council was morally bound to defer investigation or action upon the proposed ordinance until a conclusion had been reached by said committee of one hundred. With these matters settled, the Councilmanic committee announced its readiness to proceed. This it was authorized to do and further meetings of the Councilmanic committee will be held this week, of which due notice will be given.

The motion to take this action was made by Councilman McCaig.

Other matters disposed of by Council was the appointment of Dr. J. C. Wessell to the Civil Service Board for the Fire and Police Departments, following the acceptance of the resignation of Mr. D. K. LeGwin, which was submitted last night; the appointment of Mr. T. B. Jackson as acting assistant fire chief during the absence of Assistant Fire Chief W. P. Monroe, who as lieutenant and quartermaster of the Second Regiment, is now on duty with his command at Camp Glenn; the authorization of an extension of the pipe along MaCumber's ditch to take care of water in case of heavy rains; the refusal of the Council to pay $500 in damages asked by L. Clayton Grant, Esq., for his client, Mrs. J. D. Robbins, who was hurt owing to the alleged defective condition of a drain in front of The Orton hotel; the refusal to pay damages of $200 asked by Woodus Kellum, Esq., for the garden and premises of Mr. J. D. Rankin at Fourteenth and Castle streets alleged to have been caused by a wall built by the city which provided no outlet for the heavy recent rains, which washed the garden away.

Following the reading of the minutes by Clerk Walter H. Blair, of the last meeting of Council, including Mr. MacRae's statement of the position of the Tidewater Power Company, Mr. MacRae was granted the floor for the purpose of adding an explanation of the written statement he had presented at the last meeting. In this connection, Mr. MacRae declared that while Council did not delegate any of its rights to the strike or arbitration committee, that it did grant the committee the right to settle the strike, and that that settlement included the authorization that the committee should make an investigation and report upon the past, present and future policy of the Tidewater Power Company.

Mr. MacRae further declared that he did not want Council to think that he wanted it to abrogate its authority to Committee of one hundred. However, he stated that inasmuch as the Committee was given the right to settle the strike and that he agreed to settle the strike with the proviso that the Committee should make the above investigation to remove public prejudice and repair as far as possible the injury done to the Company's credit. Continuing, he said in part:

"The injury done us is probably irreparable. The only way to lessen it is to have a public investigation of our policy that our credit may be restored and prejudice removed. One of the considerations upon which we agreed to a settlement of the strike was that the Committee should by investigation of the facts and report thereon remove these prejudices should their findings be in our favor. I never intended to take the men back and this extremely valuable provision of the agreement providing for a public investigation of the Company's policy was an essential part of the strike settlement agreement.

"My position in this matter is that Council cannot take away the Committee's investigation of the matter without abrogating the agreement. If Council did so, it would break that agreement.

"It will take the committee a long time to get all the facts. That was my reason for asking a postponement at the last meeting of Council. Of course, when the Committee makes its report of findings, that report does not bind you. All the officials of the city and county were appointed to that Committee, and with the other citizens of which it is composed, it is fairly representative of public opinion. I rested my case with that committee, and should have the benefit of its findings, just as a man in court has the right to the benefit of the findings of an impartial jury."

"The one-man system is certainly safer than the old system before we started to prepare for the one-man system of operation."

Mr. Head Replies.

J. Felton Head, Esq., replying to Mr. MacRae's remarks on behalf of the Wilmington Trades Council, declared that the Trades Council, representing some 600 citizens, did not recognize the Committee of one hundred had any right to pass upon matters in which public safety was concerned. "We hold that in the city proper the public safety would be endangered by the one-man system of operating cars," he declared.

Through the Councilmanic Committee of Investigation as to the merits of the one-man system as regards public safety, Messrs. E. E. Page, and L. Riordan, of the Wilmington Trades Council, submitted the following statement:

To the Honorable Mayor and Councilmen of the City of Wilmington:

"Gentlemen—After your last meeting of said investigation we feel as though our side of the controversy would not be complete without a written state-

RATE OF $1.25 FIXED BY THE COMMISSIONERS

Levy Special School Poll Tax This Year Of 45 Cents

New Hanover Board Adopts Previously Announced Tax Schedule Without Discussion Monthly Reports Received—Jurors.

The tax rate for New Hanover county for the ensuing year was fixed at $1.25 on the hundred dollars' valuation by the Board of County Commissioners yesterday afternoon, in accordance with the schedule announced a few days ago, this being an increase of 15 cents over last year. Auditor J. A. Orrell submitted figures, prepared by the tax listers, showing that there would be an approximate increase in property values for taxation of a little more than a quarter of a million dollars.

The poll tax rate was fixed at $2.45, this being an increase of 45 cents over last year. The increase goes to the school fund and is fixed in accordance with the special act of the General Assembly of 1909, authorizing a bond issue for schools by vote of the people, payable with a special tax of 15 cents on the hundred dollars and 45 cents on the poll. The special poll tax has not been levied for the last several years but a resolution adopted by the Board of Education requested that this be done this year.

The Tax Levy Made.

The consideration of the tax levy was the principal matter coming before the Board yesterday. The monthly reports were received and considerable time was devoted to routine matters including the question of the location of a retaining wall on the south side of the court house property. The Board took no action on the resignation of Mr. P. H. Rasberry as superintendent of the county home.

The resolution authorizing the tax levy was introduced by Commissioner Yopp, seconded by Commissioner Willard. The levy is distributed as follows: State, 27 2-3 cents; schools, 20 cents; special schools, 15 cents; general fund, 19 cents; general hospital 4 1-2 cents; Northeast River bridge, 1 1-12 cents; sinking fund for school bonds, 5 cents; sinking fund for road bonds, 8 cents; sinking fund for workhouse bonds, 1 1-4 cents; health department, 3 1-2 cents; roads 20 cents. The poll tax is distributed as follows: State, 12 cents; general schools, $1.50; outdoor poor, 38 cents; special schools, 45 cents. Attention was called to the fact that last year there was not an increase of ten cents in the rate, but that an effort was made without success to reduce the rate ten cents. The rate of $1.10, it was pointed out, had been in force since 1913.

According to figures prepared by Auditor Orrell, there will be an approximate increase in the property valuations this year of $283,712, which added to the total for last year of $22,072,263 would give a total of $22,355,975. However, it is expected that the bank stock and corporate excess, which is reported from the State Corporation Commission, will show a decrease which will bring the total down somewhat. However, a total of more than $22,2350,000 can be safely relied upon.

Mr. E. Horton Freeman and several citizens from Winter Park were before the Board to ask for improvements to roads in that section. These were referred to the Permanent road committee with instructions to see that the complaints received prompt attention. With reference to a culvert which recently became clogged up, causing an overflow of water, it was stated by Chairman W. A. McGirt that it was on the right of way of the Tidewater Power Company.

Mr. Oscar Pearsall told the board that he was putting up a brick building on the south side of the court house property on Third street and that he desired to establish definitely the county line as to the retaining wall which was built jointly by the county and the adjoining property owners 23 years ago. Mr. Pearsall said that the line started on his property and gradually swerved over on the county side. Mr. Pearsall was represented by J. O. Carr, Esq., who told the Board that his client simply wanted definite understanding before putting up his building. The matter was left in the hands of the county attorney, as Mr. Pearsall stated he expected to "hew to the line" but did want to utilize the wall, wherever it was on his land.

A letter was read from Chairman J. O. Carr, of the Board of Education, calling attention to the resolution of the Board of Education requesting the commissioners to levy a special school tax of 15 cents on the one dollar's valuation and also a special school tax of 45 cents on the poll. He mentioned the fact that heretofore both Boards had ignored the poll tax for this special poll tax. Mr. Carr called attention to the fact that in all other counties in the State that wherever there is a special school tax that it is likewise levied on the poll. He cited the case of Perry against commissioners, 148 N. C. 521, as authority for the constitutionality of the statutes on this question.

County Attorney Graham Kenan was disposed to think that the constitutional limitation of $2 for poll tax would debar the special poll tax but after reading the decision of the Supreme Court, ruled that the Commissioners under the law would have to levy the tax as requested.

On motion of Commissioner Willard, the Board voted to attend in a body the special bridge hearing to be held by the War Department in the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Several bills from the office of Sheriff Cowan for automobile tires and also for surgical attention to Deputy Sheriff Reynolds were referred back to the Sheriff for further information.

Jurors Are Drawn.

Jurors were drawn for the two weeks' term of Superior Court, beginning September 11th, the first week being criminal and the second civil, drawn as follows.

REV. W. M. CRAIG IS CALLED

To Become Pastor of First Baptist Church of Kinston—Only Man Considered.

Rev. W. Marshall Craig, who served as acting pastor of the First Baptist church of Wilmington for a year prior to last July 1, when Rev. Dr. J. J. Hurt assumed the pastorate, has been unanimously called to the pastorate of the First Baptist church of Kinston, to succeed Rev. C. W. Blanchard, who recently resigned after serving that church for many years. The call was extended Sunday, according to a statement received by The Star yesterday from Dr. James W. Powell, of Kinston, formerly of Wilmington.

Rev. Mr. Craig and Mrs. Craig left Wilmington several days ago for West Union, S. C., to spend some time before locating for the next year and it is not known here whether or not Mr. Craig will accept the call. The presumption among his friends here, however, is that it is more than probable that he will accept the Kinston pastorate. His pastoral connection with the Wilmington church ceased upon the assumption of the pastorate by Dr. Hurt, following a year of work that was crowned with a remarkable measure of success.

The Kinston church to which Mr. Craig has been called is one of the largest and strongest in Eastern North Carolina. It is a progressive body, embraces a large membership and has a building and equipment hardly excelled by any church of the denomination in the State east of Raleigh and north of Wilmington. The church was recently completed at a cost of $40,000 or $50,000 and is of the most modern design, with up-to-date and ample rooms and equipment for all the various departments of the work of the church and Sunday school. Its erection is considered the crowning achievement of Rev. Mr. Blanchard's work in Kinston, who has served the church for some half a dozen years after an interim of several years following a former pastorate of four years with the same church.

It has been known here for some weeks that Rev. Mr. Craig was being considered for the Kinston pastorate, and Dr. Powell says that he has been the only man under consideration for the place. Mr. Craig served for several years as assistant pastor of the First Baptist church of Wilmington, in connection with the pastorate of Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster, and when the latter resigned to become president of Bessie Tift College, Forsyth, Ga., Mr. Craig became acting pastor of the church, which position he occupied with great acceptability for a year.

Dr. Powell's communication to The Star, dated Sunday and received Monday, follows:

"In your issue of August 2nd it was stated in your Kinston news that the congregation of the First Baptist church of this city had, after several attempts, been unable to agree on a man to succeed Rev. C. W. Blanchard, resigned, and that there were 14 or 15 men under consideration. This item from your Kinston correspondent does both the church and Mr. Blanchard's successor an injustice, as there has never at any time been but one man under consideration, this being Rev. W. Marshall Craig, formerly of First church of Wilmington, who was today unanimously called to this church."

MORE DONATIONS RECEIVED.

Mrs. George Thomas Forwards Clothing for the Flood Sufferers.

Donations for the flood sufferers in Western North Carolina continue to come in, though not so rapidly as was the case last week. The local members of the State Relief Committee have made no active canvass, and all contributions have been entirely voluntary.

Mrs. George G. Thomas, who has so kindly undertaken the collection and shipping of clothing and other articles to different points in the flood stricken districts to be used for the relief of those in need, yesterday sent forward a box to Marion, and will today send another to Mt. Airy. She has received a most cordial response to the appeal that was made last week. All articles sent to her home at Fourth and Market streets will be packed and shipped to some responsible person in the flood-stricken district, who will see that the things are distributed among those who really need them.

The contributions that have been made, as reported to this paper, are as follows:

CHIMPANZEE SETS TYPE?

Said to Be Pretty Good Operator of a Linotype Machine.

Local printers are much interested in a story carried in the August number of the Typographical Journal, and, despite the fact that it sounds a little "fishy" it is nevertheless good fiction should this prove to be the case. The story reads as follows:

Biz Fox, one of the few chimpanzee linotype operators in the world, is an expert operator on a Mergenthaler, having set 101,000 ems solid brevier in eight hours and forty-five minutes (mostly reprint and typewritten copy.) Biz has been at work for nineteen months and shows signs of becoming swift in time. He cannot set manuscript copy accurately as yet, but will probable be able to do so in a short while.

"Biz is possessed of great strength. He changes the magazine of a No. 1 linotype unassisted. Another feat of his was carrying eight cases of job type balanced on his head during the recent removal of the Star-Bulletin to its new home. Biz also carried a Gordon jobber three blocks and a half, only resting once. He climbs up the the front of the linotype machine to start the distributor, placing one foot on the sort tray, locking the shifter with his hand. He then ascends over the magazine and starts the distributing mechanism in record time."

According to another paragraph in the story the ape is addicted to the drink habit and frequently takes a little too much "booze" and has on several occasions had trouble with traffic policemen, for exceeding the speed limit.

IN MEMORIAM.

BORNEMANN — In loving remembrance of our son and brother, J. HENRY BORNEMANN, M. D., who departed this life one year ago today, August 8th, 1915.

He lives where none do mourn and weep,
And calmly shall this body sleep
Till God shall death himself destroy,
And raise it into glorious joy.

REPORT OF TRAVELERS' AID.

Many People Were Helped at the Wilmington Union Station in July.

The Travelers' Aid work at the union station in Wilmington was unusually heavy last month. One of the workers reported that more sick and helpless people needed attention and substantial aid than in any other month of her service. There were many attentions and kindnesses shown the old soldiers attending the Confederate reunion. One of them had his purse, containing all his money and his ticket stolen and was in great distress until aid was given him.

A number of young girls who were tied up by the flood, had their tickets changed through the efforts of the society, so they could go another route. A number of ladies who missed their trains were accommodated for the night. A lady with several children who was to have been met by some one from Castle Haynes was cared for, and the person in Castle Haynes located with much difficulty.

A girl traveling alone had accepted the offer of a strange man to find her a boarding place. The society explained to her the danger of this plan, and a more suitable arrangement was made.

A number of sick people on their way to the hospital were given assistance, and later visited by the society. One young soldier who had been wounded on the border and was in bad condition was looked after, and money secured to send him to his destination at North Charlotte.

Through the kindness of Mr. W. M. Cumming and others, five little children who were at the station without either money or tickets, were enabled through the Travelers' Aid to be sent to their destination. Their parents were sick in the hospital and had sent them to stay with relatives.

A small child, not old enough to talk, was restored to its parents after much phoning by the society.

More than 300 people, including over 30 children, were looked after and assisted in various ways during the past month.

The Red Cross kit given by the Red Cross society was much in demand, and first aid services were given numerous passengers by the Travelers' Aid Society.

Croom and also the ambulance from the James Walker Memorial Hospital. The boy was taken at once to the hospital and was reported last night to be some better.

Manager Wood, of the open-air theatre at Lumina, has a special offering for tonight, this being a big two-reel drama, "A Brother's Loyalty," in which that favorite of the screen, Francis X. Bushman, will be seen. In addition to this powerful and compelling drama, there will also be two scintillating comedies that will be sure to please the large number of patrons who are expected at Lumina for the evening.

Several fishing parties were in evidence off the Rocks yesterday, but the one led by Capt. W. M. Wells in the Virgie Mae, was perhaps the most successful, they catching about 150 pigfish, bass and the like. Mr. J. A. Sasser and Judge Graham, with several others were members of this party. Captain Wells' other boat, the Susanna, also took out a group of ambitious Waltonites, under the direction of Mr. Gallinger. A capture of 76 was also reported by a party with Captain Merritt.

At the police excursion at Lumina tomorrow one of the chief sources of amusement will be the dancing which will be indulged in throughout the day and during the evening. A special band provided by the police committee will furnish the music during the day, and the regular Lumina orchestra will play for the dances after 8 o'clock as usual. During the day square dances and the old time waltz and two-step will be featured. The programme for the day includes many other features besides the dancing. One of these is the chicken thief chase, which promises to be very amusing.

Twenty couples were entered last night in the waltz contest at Lumina, which was one of the most interesting of the many contests which have been held at the popular resort during the present season. The winners of the first prizes, Mrs. Cuthbert Martin and Jas. F. Post, Jr., of Wilmington, received a solid silver chatelaine and cigarette case, respectively. The winners of the consolation prizes, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. Galvin, of Wilmington; Miss Gladys Teague and Mr. Jas. H. Lowry, of Augusta, Ga., received boxes of candy. The awards made by the judges were heartily applauded by the large number of spectators. The judges were Miss Kate Northrop, Mr. Heiskell Gouverneur and Mrs. Paul Comes.

Cobb and daughter, Miss Florence, of Royston, Ga., mother and sister of the famous Detroit baseball player, Tyrus Cobb. Mrs. Cobb and daughter arrived Sunday, and will spend several weeks at the beach. From here they will go to Detroit for an extended visit to their son and brother. The Detroit team is now in the midst of one of the closest races in the history of the American League, and Mrs. Cobb will have an opportunity to see her famous son perform for his club in the hour of its greatest need.

It does not often take many days of such regular care with Resinol Soap to show an improvement, because the Resinol medication soothes and refreshes the skin, while the perfectly pure soap is cleansing it.

—Joe Smith, alias "Sinky Joe" and Mitchell Wilson, both colored, serving terms on the county roads escaped early yesterday morning from the county stockade. It is understood the prisoners were in the yard greasing wagons just prior to their escape. It is believed they caught a passing freight train. Wilson was recently sent up for 30 days for "beating his way" on a train, and it is thought that the whistle of the locomotive created in his breast a desire to ramble forth once more. "Sinky Joe" was probably just tired of working, and felt that a short vacation would be very attractive. Neither of the men have been captured yet, so far as is known.

MR. CARR CONFIRMED.

Wilmington Lawyer Now District Attorney for Eastern Carolina.

A telegram yesterday evening to Col. Walker Taylor, from Senator Lee S. Overman brings the interesting and altogether pleasing news to his many friends in the state that the Senate yesterday afternoon confirmed the president's nomination of James O. Carr, Esq., of this city, to be United States District Attorney for the Eastern District of North Carolina. This news was later confirmed in press dispatches to The Star, and congratulations for Mr. Carr will be in order today.

As soon as Mr. Carr can qualify he will enter at once upon the duties of the office. His office will be located in the Federal building, in Wilmington, and his duties will take him to sessions of the Federal Court, at Raleigh, Wilson, New Bern, Elizabeth City, Washington, N. C., Laurinburg, and perhaps one or two other points.

It is understood that Mr. E. Wheeler Stone, of Robeson county, now chief clerk to the retiring district attorney, Hon. Francis D. Winston, will have a similar position with Mr. Carr, and will remove from Windsor, N. C., the home of Judge Winston, to Wilmington. Mr. Stone is not a stranger in Wilmington, where he formerly resided, and he will be cordially welcomed back to the city and to the Sixth district. He is well known here and in Robeson, and has a host of friends, who will be glad to know that he, of course, retains his position under the new appointment.

THIEF LOOTS GARAGE

Was Owned by Mr. E. A. Todd, Who Loses Brass Auto Fittings.

A thief who secured an entry by prying off a plank at the side of the building entered the garage at the residence of Mr. E. A. Todd, Seventh and Castle streets, probably late Sunday night, and stripped a $350 music box of its brass fittings and tried to get the brass out of the clock on Mr. Todd's automobile, but was unsuccessful. A brass horn from the automobile and a $25 new coil was also stolen by the thief. The robbery was not discovered until yesterday morning, and was immediately reported to the police. Officer D. W. Coleman was detailed to make an investigation of the matter.

FEAST OF LANTERNS AUGUST 17th AND 18th

THEATRICAL

What did we tell you last week? That "Peg o' the Ring" would draw even larger crowds than on the first week. And it did. And today will see even larger crowds than last week to witness this great serial supreme. Grace Cunard and Francis Ford are outdoing all previous achievements in this their greatest serial, and the crowds that are coming every week leads to the prediction that it will be the most popular serial ever presented in Wilmington.

Chapter three on today is entitled "In the Lion's Den," and we find Peg still unconscious in the strange house with Doctor Lund bending over her. But the ruffians find her, choke Young Lund and knock him into unconsciousness with a tent stake and a moment later thrust Peg into the circus tank and nail down the cover. It is indeed a thrilling encounter and just the beginning of other thrills which go through two reels.

"Bascombe's Pal" is one of the greatest two-reel dramas ever written, which is also on today's bill at the Bijou. Self-sacrifice, so supreme is rarely seen, even on the screen, as is displayed in this picture. For the sake of the girl he loves, Jack loses friends, fortune and happiness. Only his dog remains true to him in his misfortune. One of the features of this picture is "Nick" the one who finally succeeds in bringing Helen and Jack together after their misunderstandings. The part of "Nick" is played by "Nick" himself. "Nick," allow us to say is a dog.

Fox Six-Reeler at Royal.

Bertha Kalisch, whose fame as an emotional actress is secure for all time, appears today at the Royal in one of the greatest six reel William Fox photoplays supreme that have been presented at the Royal Theatre in a long time, entitled "Slander." Mayme Kelso, Edward Van Sloan, Warren Cook and Caroline Harris, are some of the Fox stars who are seen in support of Miss Kalisch in this feature.

"Slander" is replete with punches, deals with facts in life which men and women are interested in and is staged in thoroughly effective fashion. Therefore it should have a large universal appeal to Wilmington audiences.

It leaves no doubt of the ability of Madame Kalisch in screen pantomime for she is called upon to run the entire gamut of emotions, and she succeeds without difficulty. Her acting holds the spectator throughout the picture and more than once flashes with great power. The theme is made of material which commands the close attention very often the distinct sympathy of the great masses.

Because of the great pathos thrown about the character of Helene, as interpreted by Mme. Kalisch, "Slander" will appeal particularly to women but there is also no question about its ability to interest most men. It should draw large houses at the Royal today, in six reels.

"Gloria's Romance" Thursday.

Stage settings of real lumber are being used in many of the scenes of "Gloria's Romance," the big motion picture novel featuring Billie Burke, which the Royal theatre is offering their patrons on Thursday. The director found that the use of actual lumber instead of mere compo-board, covered with wall-paper, such as is ordinarily used in picture studios, would give much better photographic effects—for the shadows are genuine and an opportunity is afforded for matching all interior decorations perfectly.

The story of "Gloria's Romance" begins at fashionable Palm Beach, Florida, and the full company spent more than three weeks at that aristocratic resort in getting the scenes in which appear many notables of the world of fashion, who thought it a great lark to work before a motion picture camera.

"The Inner Struggle"—Grand.

The doctor looked again at the letter in his hand—the letter that called him back t othe happy care-free life, and the woman he loved. Then before him came the vision of a hundred tortured souls cursed with a dread disease, shunned by the world, dragging out their uselass lives in the desolate despised leper colony.

The doctor smiled in his characteristic gentle and sad way, and applied a match to the letter. His people needed him. The flame reached his fingers but the flesh did not burn. The doctor was now more than ever bound to "his people"—for he was one of them.

This is the "punch" Julian La Mothe puts into his intensely dramatic five-act story, "The Inner Struggle," picturized into a Mutual masterpiece, de Luxe Edition, by Director Edward Sloman, of the American studios.

As Myra Hamilton, in this startling and tensely dramatic masterpiece, De Luxe, Winnifred Greenwood, the star, furnishes a striking demonstration of her prowess as an emotional actress. Although a popular star, whose interpretations of unusually powerful dramatic roles has won her wide approval, it is doubtful if Miss Greenwood has ever been called upon to demonstrate her unusual abilities as she has in this production.

Aside from the unique plot involved and the tenseness with which the love story is unfolded, "The Inner Struggle" presents a most unusual and pathetic side to the life of the leper—those despised humans who eke out their lives on a desolate little island far out in the Pacific.

Franklin Ritchie essays the chief role to Miss Greenwood, his interpretation of the difficult part of Dr. Grant, furnishing a striking illustration of his versatility. Roy Stewart, famous "heavy" of American-Mutual releases, and various other capable players appear in the cast.

This magnificent five-reel feature is today's great attraction at the Grand theatre.

BACK HOME MOVEMENT IS SWEEPING OVER NORWAY.

Country is Feeling Great Emigration of Citizens to America.

Christiania, Norway, Aug. 7.—A "Home to Norway" movement is sweeping over Norway at the present moment. The great emigration of Norwegians to the United States which during the past 50 years has drained the country of young laborers and girls from the farms has never made itself felt so much as in the last two years while Norway has been endeavoring to become more and more self-supporting, and more independent of foreign imports. Although since the outbreak of the war industries have grown in all parts of the country, this is not enough. Farming must be raised to a higher standard and more acreage devoted to the raising of grain crops.

The Norwegian government is trying to assist the progress of farming by the granting of cheap loans to farmers and providing them with inexpensive lands for cultivation. Although the number of farmers has increased recently, difficulties have arisen owing to the lack of farm hands, many of whom still prefer to seek new homes in America, although wages for farm hands of both sexes are almost as high here as they are in the United States and better than anywhere else in Europe.

The press all over the country is devoting much attention to this subject and strong efforts are being made to change the current of migration and bring back from America to Norway at least some of the farm laborers and women engaged in agricultural pursuits who have in recent times left this country.

The idea of beginning a campaign in America with the object of making young Norwegians there acquainted with the promising prospects in their own country is rapidly spreading. One society with the title of New Land has been in existence some time with this purpose in view and also for providing land to be farmed by peasant youths desiring to start for themselves. Another scheme has been started by a big industrial man who needs thousands of men for his water-power enterprises with the view of inducing the various industries to appoint agents in America to hire Norwegians there for employment in Norway and to assist them to return to their native land.

The most recent government census shows that of the population of 2,500,000, some 800,000 are returned Norwegian Americans, 1,700 of whom were born in the United States. The majority of these people have taken up farming on their own account, using as their capital money they had saved while working for others in America.

A new emigration law is under consideration which will provide for closer control of emigration agents and steamship lines and making it easier for emigrants to return to Norway by giving them dispensation from military service if they have been away from Norway for a certain number of years and at the same time facilitating the restoration of their Norwegian citizenship.

MIDSUMMER FROCKS

Show Hints of Autumn

By Hester Winthrop

A Lovely Frock of Bisque Tinted Soiree Silk with Corded Inserts of Cream Filet

Cartridge Pleat Pockets are the Feature in this Frock

The Yoke and Armhole on a Straight Line Give a Smart New Effect

A Novel Lingerie Frock Combining White and Pink Organdie in a New Banded Effect

Worth Favors the Banded Skirt -- Japanese Collars Drape Around the Neck -- Beads and Buttons Used for Trimming -- White and Colored Organdie In Combination -- Sleeves.

ABOUT the first of August one has a weather eye out for new ideas in dress, and the dainty summer frocks that appear at summer resorts and town restaurants are eagerly scanned for hints of what is to be. Of course, the autumn modes are pretty well settled by now, but the Powers that Be do not let them escape too rapidly from the mysterious hiding places from which they will emerge with a fine flourish when time for September openings has arrived.

But she who observes may read many valuable hints of what is to be in the midsummer models that are put out at this season. Women must have fresh, new frocks to replace those that a gay July has reduced to unwearableness, and of course a new frock, built since the new modes have developed, must partake more or less of coming styles. One notes a deal of trimming, shirrings of ribbon, buttons, tassels, bands of one fabric on another, rows and rows of silk stitching, tabs, scallops, little bows, metal threaded laces, smocking, feather-stitching — every sort of trimming that fancy can conjure up to add gaiety to woman's dress.

Silhouette Not Much Changed.

It is whispered that autumn will see a distinctly different silhouette, one of straight clinging lines after the Moyenage idea; but midsummer frocks continue to be close-bodiced and flaring in the skirt. Petticoats run with featherbone hoops distend skirt draperies and skirts are short enough to show the dainty slipper or buttoned boot to good advantage; although the woman of conservative taste has definitely abandoned very short frocks. About five inches from the floor is the extreme limit of shortness now, in frocks for indoors, worn with pumps or slippers. Tailored costumes, worn with high buttoned boots, may be a bit shorter.

Silks And Cottons At Summer Affairs.

Fashion is very inconsistent this summer, where materials are concerned. The richest silks are used for sport frocks and skirts, and often one sees formal afternoon frocks of sheer cotton stuff—organdie or very fine handkerchief linen, dropped over petticoats of shimmering silk. Georgette and cotton voile appear side by side at afternoon affairs, the one having a silk weave, the other being all cotton; and at dances in the evening organdie frocks and pretty models of white cotton net intermingle with costumes of costly lace, brocade and tulle. Very democratic is Dame Fashion in midsummer! But perhaps having surfeited herself with silk in sport togs and bathing suits, she turns with relief to simple, unostentatious little frocks of sheer cotton material. Two new silks for fall, however, are so beautiful that they must have a word of praise; and their popularity is assured with the end of August when even the prettiest of cotton dresses begin to look a bit passe and shivery. One of these silks is faille matinee, a shimmering, exquisite silk for dance frocks and blouses; the other is soiree, with a lustrous, satiny texture for handsome evening gowns and wraps. In the orchid and apricot shades soiree is especially lovely. Noting the many tone-shadings of this silk in the light, it is almost impossible to believe that one sees but a single color; and by candle-light the silk is even richer than by day.

The dance frock trimmed with filet bands is of bisque tinted soiree which shades to gold in certain lights. The filet lace is creamy in tone and is set into the silk with cordings of featherbone tubing, which give a very dainty flare. The drop skirt does not flare but is shirred in to a three-yard width over the tubing. Worth is using these band trimmings generously for autumn and no type of trimming is more graceful for a gathered skirt. Look closely and you will see that this skirt is not gathered directly at the waistline but two inches below, the full skirt, shirred over a cord, having a tiny heading at the top.

The wide girdle of this frock, draped softly around the waist and pulled into trimness by a double twist of gold-colored velvet ribbon, is stayed underneath by a fitted foundation carefully featherboned which gives the waist trimness. The little bodice is of cream-colored net over filet lace, the net having a corded edge and tiny heading. The puffed sleeve is particularly pretty and youthful with this style of gown. Tea roses are tucked in the girdle and tea roses trim the hat, made of tucked cream mousseline.

Worth Uses Band Trimmings.

When Worth deigns to build a lingerie frock, it is sure to be a masterpiece. After a Worth model is the afternoon dress of organdie; white, with bands of pink organdie set into the skirt with hemstitching. The hem is also of pink organdie and the sleeves are made like the skirt, falling loosely to the elbow. Simplicity itself is the surplice bodice with a deep, draped collar of pink organdie and the twin loops of pink picot-edged grosgrain ribbon with long ends falling at either side of a row of pink silk buttons give a note of smart emphasis to the simple costume. This frock is in the new ankle length, but reveals plainly the dainty boots of white washable kid which accompany the tub frock. Properly, with this pink and white costume, the hat is touched with black for contrast, velvet and velvet ribbon being used on pink straw.

Handkerchief linen in pink and white is combined in a very effective frock for midsummer wear, and here again, one sees the banded skirt trimming. There are two deep flounces, the upper one overlapping the lower at the knee, and each flounce has two four-inch bands of pink—at the edge and so near the edge-band that only half an inch of white shows between. The materials are set together by hemstitching. The bodice falls six inches below the waistline and is edged with a band of pink and pink runs around the neck and in a long tab down the front, hemstitched into the white handkerchief lawn of the frock. Dignity is given by a tall, flaring collar of white organdie which rises from the round neck at the back and the sleeves are elaborately puffed and banded with pink, with long, tight cuffs buttoned with pink buttons. The bodice is shirred at the waistline at the sides and a pink grosgrain ribbon runs under the shirring, emerging at back and front in belt effect.

Baby-Velvet In Bands And Bands.

The band trimming is evidenced again in a Worth afternoon frock for a young girl. The frock is of white silk net over flesh tinted taffeta, this taffeta foundation skirt having a flounce of lace from the knee which shows, petticoat fashion, below the full tulle skirt. The latter is trimmed with a very deep band of rose pink moire silk on which are stitched 24 rows of black velvet baby ribbon. Turned back cuffs and girdle are also of the rose moire with twelve rows of black ribbon, and at the neck is a draped Japanese collar, also bordered with rose moire and black ribbon. These big Japanese collars are a striking feature of autumn frocks and give a very smart neck finish. The steel blue silk frock pictured, has one of these Japanese collars, set in this instance on an upright band, around a well cut-out neck, so that the collar does not lie flat on the shoulders but seems to drape itself around the neck. There are several other interesting new hints in this steel blue frock, which by the bye, is built of the new soiree silk, referred to earlier on today's page. Note the yoke, bisecting the bodice, and the armhole on a level with this yoke, making a horizontal line across the bodice. The sleeves are gathered into wristbands, with pleated frills below, and more pleated frills run two-thirds around the skirt, set on under bands of bead and French knot embroidery. The corsage bouquet repeats the colors in this embroidery, steel gray, steel blue and salmon pink. A wide, shaped girdle gives the effect of a basque-bodice.

Pockets will play an important part in autumn costumes—even on afternoon frocks of formal character. The checked silk frock with pockets made of cartridge pleats at either hip is a model in point. This frock comes from Cheruit and combines blue and white checked taffeta and white Georgette crepe. The bodice has pockets also, set below groups of hand-run tucks which add fullness at the shoulder, and each breast pocket buttons with a silk-covered button. The cuffs button also, and so does the girdle. Plenty of buttons will give just the right finish to your new fall frock, for buttons are going to be immensely chic. Rather a graceful idea is the narrow sash of silk which is knotted once in front, holding down the gathered top of the skirt in trim lines over the hip, below the buttoned girdle. The bodice, edged with bands of the silk, opens over a shirred chemisette of white Georgette and a collar of the silk finishes the neck at the back.

Of First Importance is a Modish Handbag

OF incalculable value to the ensemble of the costume is the right sort of handbag. Have you never seen a smart tailored suit, accompanied by trig hat and veil and the very latest style in buttoned boots of pretty colored glazed kid utterly spoiled by a shabby, overused handbag? Or on the other hand, have you not been so fascinated with a stunning handbag, carried by the woman sitting opposite you in the subway that you never thought of noticing the rest of her costume? Yes, indeed, a handbag counts at least 25 points in importance in the entire costume and the woman who knows the value of correct finishing touches, never neglects her handbag.

In the first place, she owns several handbags. The day is gone when one faithful leather bag was one's constant companion every time one dressed to go out of doors. There must be the shopping handbag, the matinee and restaurant bag, the dainty calling bag, the sturdy sport reticule, the elaborate theatre and opera bag. These at least one must have; and to be very chic, there must be a bag to match every costume—just as one matches every costume, these days, with colored buttoned boots or pumps of blue or brown or tan or green glazed kid. Large and small bags one must possess also; large enough ones to carry home small parcels from the shops, or to hold tickets, extra handkerchiefs, smelling salts, etc., when traveling; and tiny enough purses to tuck into the sport skirt pocket when one goes golfing—for you never know when a tip to somebody or other may smooth things out immeasurably.

Bead Embroidered Reticules Are The Paris Craze.

Beaded silk handbags are the Paris mandate for fall—for all use with formal or dressy costumes. Very dainty leather bags are carried, bags of saffian and pin seal with gilt mountings and tinted kid or shirred silk linings, but the beaded silk bag is much smarter and newer. Moire silk, brocade, heavy faille, soiree silk and a new silk called faille matinee, very lustrous and soft, are used for the new bags, and the beading incorporates itself with the lines of the bag, accentuating its shape. A very handsome model is a pouch-shaped bag almost covered with embroidery of steel and white beads and conventional designs and French knots worked with silk floss. From the bottom swings a tassel ornament of crystal beads. Moire ribbons form the handle and these run through gunmetal rings, which are sewed to the bag, instead of through the usual shirred casing. This bag is of taupe colored moire silk with embroidery in steel, crystal and black silk. The top is finished with a rolled edge whipped with heavy steel colored silk floss.

Entirely new is a pocket bag, long and narrow with slits at the side. The bag does not open but one puts one's hands into a slit to draw out purse or vanity case. One of these bags, just from Paris, is of deep blue silk with beading in cut steel and crystal. A handsome, roomy bag with a wide, square frame is made of navy blue soiree silk and gold and black embroidery. A straight band of the embroidery fits inside the square frame and below is a full pouch of the plain blue silk.

One of the most interesting bags of the season was selected by Madame Paquin for her personal use at the Societe des Arts des Armee's—the profits of whose sales go to bereaved war widows and orphans. The bag is a dainty affair for theatre and restaurant use and is perfectly round, in pouch style. The upper half, drawn in by an elastic, is of white chiffon over white silk; the lower half is covered with roses made of white taffeta, blue faille ribbon and pink chiffon.

Bags and purses of Chinese brocade appeal to the woman who loves odd and picturesque belongings. Some of these bags, of deep blue brocade, with ivory rings through which is passed the cord handle, are extremely beautiful. There are others with wrought metal chains for handles, a ball of carved ivory at the end, over which the hand closes. Very pretty pocketbooks and small bags are made of colored glazed kid; one of these may be ordered in any particular color combination to match the costume. For general use the shirred bag of black moire silk, with cord or strap handle of the silk, and a covered frame, is in good taste, and these bags, dainty as they seem give a good deal of service. Of this sort is the restaurant bag, an adequately appointed affair with the mirror conveniently placed for a surreptitious peep.

SHARP ADVANCE IN COTTON

Prices Make New High Records, Recording Net Gain of 15 to 19 Points.

New York, Aug. 7.—Early declines on reports of rains in the Southwest were followed by a renewal of active general buying in the cotton market here today and prices made new high records. December sold u pfrom 14.07 to 14.43 and closed at 14.41, while the general list closed very steady at a net advance of 15 to 19 points for the day.

After a relatively firm opening, Liverpool broke very sharply on the reports of rains in Texas and the market here opened at a decline of 4 to 10 points. Slight rallies were followed by increased offerings during the middle of the morning and after the publication of the detailed weather reports for the Houston district the market sold off to a net loss of some 15 to 18 points. October dropped to 13.86 and January to 14.15, or about 20 points under the high records of last week. Local traders seemed to apprehend that any improvement in Texas would be offset by the continued dry weather in Oklahoma and the market became very firm during the afternoon on a renewal of an aggressive bull support and covering. Trade interests were among the buyers and commission houses were more active during the afternoon when October sold up to 14.22 and January to 14.51, or about 36 points above the low level of the morning.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

Market Featured by Sudden Bulge—Net Gain of 20 Points.

New Orleans, Aug. 7.—The cotton market today was featured by a sudden bulge in the early afternoon, amounting to about a quarter of a cent a pound. From then on until the close the market was excited and active and before the upward movement was over trading months were 30 to 30 points up from the lowest of the day. The close was very steady at a net gain of 20 to 21 points. At the topmost levels prices were 20 to 23 points over Saturday's last quotations. Heavy buying based on reports of drouth and the depredations of insects in the West caused the rise. There appeared to be organized buying during the noon hour, when many brokers and traders were at lunch.

The market opened at the decline and lost 7 to 9 points in the first half hour. Liverpool was poor and much needed rains in Texas over the week-end caused rather large offerings of contracts. The market gradually sagged off until it stood at a net loss of 10 to 13 points. Prices were not far from the bottom when the heavy buying was first felt.

Closing bid: August 13.95; October 14.03; December 14.22; January 14.32; March 14.49; May 14.64.

Spot cotton steady, unchanged; sales on the spot 105 bales; to arrive 585 bales; middling 13.55.

WEAKNESS IN WHEAT MARKET

Corn finished ¼ to 1c. down, and oats off ⅝ to 1⅛c. In provisions the outcome varied from 2½@5c. decline to a rise of 20c.

DULLEST DAY YET IN STOCKS

Exceeded Any Full Session of Five Hours for the Year Thus Far in Transactions.

New York, Aug. 7.—The dullness of today's market exceeded any full session of the year to date. Transactions for the five hours amounted to only 123,000 shares, of which 33 per cent represented the first hour's business. Numerous prominent stocks failed of quotation and representative issues registered few if any material changes. Such hitherto dormant issues as International Paper, common and preferred, were among the most active features at gains of 1 to 2 points. The only other feature of note was Consolidated Gas, at an extreme gain of 3 1-2. Munitions and equipments were apathetic with speculative interest at lowest ebb.

News pertaining to market conditions was most encouraging, but failed to rouse the list from its torpor.

Rails were completely unresponsive to the further gains shown in western tonnage and shortage of cars for crop moving purposes.

The only foreign feature was contained in the British trade report for July, imports to the United Kingdom increasing by a little more than $5,000,000 0w,hile exports increased by almost $60,000,000.

The bond market was listless with some speculative issues showing slight concessions. United States bonds unchanged on call.

ORGANIZATION OF FARM LOAN BOARD COMPLETED

George W. Norris is Executive Head and Commissioner.

Secretary McAdoo Declares New Farm Loan Act Means More Prosperity for the Farmer and Indirectly for Others.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Organization of the new Farm Loan Board, which is to administer the new Rural Credits system, was perfected here today with the induction into office of its four appointive members, the designation by President Wilson of an executive head and the selection of a secretary. The board will meet again tomorrow to consider how it may best obtain information on which to base its first important work, division of the country into 12 land banks with a Federal bank in each.

President Wilson named George W. Norris as farm loan commissioner or executive head of the board. The oath of office was administered to Mr. Norris, and C. E. Lobdell, Herbert Quick and W. S. A. Smith, the other appointive members, in the office of Secretary McAdoo, who is ex-officio member and chairman. Mr. McAdoo made a brief speech pointing out that the farm loan act was the first legislation to provide financial aid for farmers on long time and easy terms enacted since the foundation of the government and declaring it meant more prosperity for the farmer and more in consequence for everybody else. At a short session afterward W. W. Flannagan, of Montclair, N. J., was elected secretary of the board. Mr. Flannagan has been secretary of the joint committee which investigated rural credits in Europe and drafted the present law.

The board also discussed the itinerary for its trip to the Pacific coast and went over the applications and recommendations of 40 cities for Federal land banks. No route for the trip was determined on, but it is probable the board will go west through Northern states and return to Washington through the South. Hearings also will be held in Washington.

Fear river, and down the Cape Fear river to the beginning.

"Resolved, Second. That the boundaries of the Isaac Bear Memorial district No. 3, be as follows: Beginning at the intersection of Dickinson street with the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, running thence southwardly along the center of Dickinson and Tenth streets to Princess street; thence westwardly along the center of Princess street to Ninth street; thence southwardly along the center of Ninth street to Castle street; thence eastwardly along the center of Castle street to 11th street; thence southwardly along the center of 11th street to the southern boundaries of the city; thence eastwardly along the southern boundaries of the city to 17th street; thence northwardly along the center of 17th street to Castle street; thence eastwardly along the center of Castle street to the Delgado Mill line; thence northwardly along the various lines of the Delgado Mill tract to Mill creek; thence down Mill creek to the Newbern branch of the A. C. L. railroad; thence westwardly along the right-of-way of said railroad to Dickinson street, the point of beginning.

"Resolved, Third. That the other districts in the city of Wilmington remain as at present situated, subject to the change caused by the change of the boundaries of the above districts.

The additional qualifications to be required of all new teachers will be that the teacher shall have two years in college, or must have had two years' successful teaching or must have completed a year's course in a teachers' training school. Teachers are given $45 a month their first year and this is gradually increased until at the end of 10 years they receive $55. Graduates of the State Normal College receive $50 the first year and this is increased gradually until the $55 mark is reached.

The question of employing a supervisor for the colored schools of the county, in accordance with the provisions of the Jeans fund, was discussed but definite action was postponed until next Monday when another meeting of the board will be held.

Chairman James O. Carr presided at the meeting which was attended by the other members, Messrs. S. Solomon and J. G. L. Gieschen. Mr. John J. Blair, superintendent of the city schools, and Prof. Washington Catlett, county superintendent of public instruction, were also present at the meeting.

"NO RIGHTS PERTAINING TO SAFETY DELEGATED"

"Mr. MacRae seems to revel in trying to impeach the testimony of Mr. E. E. Page. The car used was a Carolina Car which under ordinary circumstances is run by one man. On this occasion it is significant that Mr. MacRae had picked it out to see how things in general were operating (his own statements). This car was being operated at this time by a 'scab' by the name of Fisher; Mr. Page was the conductor. Mr. MacRae in order to prove that two men could be a menace to safety, testified that this car had exceeded the speed limits, trying to fasten responsibility on the conductor. Mr. Page produced his rule book, and proved that the motorman is responsible for the speed of the car, so you see Mr. MacRae didn't know the rules as to the operation of the car. And leaves us under the impression that the stage was set in this instance exactly as it was set as regards those various committees all representing a one-man thinking apparatus, whose reasoning is biased; then again when he attacks the good faith of the Wilmington Trades Council and its resolution, your learned City Attorney, Mr. Ruark, had to call his attention to the fact that the city authorities had used their good offices and granted permission of mediation to the committee of ten, that is the original committee, and no power whatever was granted to them to delegate their power to a committee of one hundred.

"Mr. J. A. Taylor accused the city attorney of being partial in the premises. Now, gentlemen, Mr. Taylor in a long statement as regards the one-man car system says it is progress and better than the two-men car, and among a great many cities where he claims the one-man system is in operation we decided to find out first from Charlotte. We have the statement by telegram from the Mayor of that city that Charlotte has never operated cars by the one-man system.

"Then we decided to go far west to Missoula, Montana, this city has a population of 16,492, and has a system of one-man-to-the-car. Wilmington men who are operating one-man cars have been paid 18 to 20 cents an hour, while Missoula men operating cars in a much smaller town under entirely different circumstances are paid 35 to 40 cents an hour. Towns of this size are seemingly justified as they have small travel and as they pay practically two men's wages to one man to compensate the difference in labor This constitutes the circumstances.

"We merely state this for your information, and we will state further that if you leave it to any of the various committees suggested by the Tide Water Power Company without a general interest of the public, for we don't believe Mr. MacRae would be willing to let any committee pass upon the past, present and future policitse of the Tidewater Power Company unless he was sure he could control absolutely the action of said committee. Yours in the interest of public safety.

"L. RIORDAN."

The foregoing communication, together with the following telegrams given below, was referred to the Councilmanic Committe to whom was referred the matter of an ordinance introduced in the Council meeting last week providing that street cars should not be operated in the city with less than two persons. The telegrams follow:

"E. E. Page, Wilmington, N. C.

We have never used the one-man system. Not knowing cannot express an opinion.

"T. L. KIRKPATRICK,
"Mayor."

"E. E. Page, Wilmington, N. C.

"We have pay as enter cars, exit and entrance in front. Have never had two-man system. This seems to operate very satisfactorily. We have most up-to-date system and equipment. Carmen are paid a sliding scale 35 cents an hour first year, advancing one cent per hour each year until a maximum of 40 cents. H. T. WILKINSON."

Superintendent James E. Holton, of the sanitary department, reported 1,328 condemnations received during July from the Health Department, number of places cleaned and reported to Health Department, 1,408. Loads of slops collected 218; carrion calls 638. Trash delivered to incinerator, 1,302 loads; hauled to wash-outs and other places, 520, making a total of 1,822. The superintendent points out that with an increase in pay to men in his department this year, he has decreased his weekly pay roll about $20, by having trash carts take up rinds instead of putting on extra carts as has been done heretofore. Team was loaned to Health Department during the month to unload three cars of wood at the incinerator. The superintendent collected during July $198.70 for sanitary work and $14 for slops.

Report of Committee.

Report of committee of Council, to whom was referred the matter of an ordinance providing that street cars should not be operated in the city with less than two persons, reads as follows:

"The undersigned committee to whom the Council referred at its meeting held on the night of Monday, July 31, 1916, an ordinance providing that street cars should not be operated within the city by less than two men, when carrying passengers, respectfully reports to the Council:

"The committee after notice given sat at the Council chamber on the night of Wednesday, August 2, 1916, for the purpose of hearing representatives of Wilmington Trades Council, representatives of Tidewater Power Company, and citizens generally, with a view to obtaining information as to whether the proposed ordinance is or is not advisable or necessary with a view to the comfort, convenience and safety of citizens generally.

"Representatives of Wilmington Trades Council, representatives of Tidewater Power Company, and some citizens other than such representatives were present. Remarks were made by some citizens, certain questions were propounded by your committee to one or more of the employes of Tidewater Power Company, engaged in the operation of street cars, and a representative of the Tidewater Power Company and representatives of the committee of ten citizens heretofore appointed by the Mayor, and Rev. Mr. Noe were heard.

"As to the employes of Tidewater Power Company who appeared and answered questions before the committee, the committee at the request of the president of Tidewater Power Company permitted such president to ask questions of such employes, which he did.

"The president of Tidewater Power Company made a statement before the committee and filed with the committee a written statement. Upon the conclusion of this statement he was advised that the committee had certain questions which it desired him to answer, and which the committee thought would aid it in determining the matter referred to it. The committee, at whose request the City Attorney had prepared a list of questions to be asked both of the citizens generally and of the officers of the company, requested the City Attorney, who was present, to ask the questions which it desired to propound to the president of the company. The president of the company took the position that the Council had previously appointed or authorized the appointment of a committee of ten citizens; that such committee of ten had pursuant to its authority and as an important element or factor entering into the settlement brought about by said committee between the company and certain of its employes, and pursuant to the authority or approval of the Council, appointed a committee of one hundred citizens, with the request that such committee should investigate and pass upon the policies of the Tidewater Power Company, past, present and future, as the company desired an expression from such committee as a representative body in the community so that it might shape its course in deference to the attitude of the public toward the company and its policies, which attitude of the public the findings of the committee of one hundred would be expected to reflect.

"For these reasons the president of the Tidewater Power Company claimed that the Council is at least morally bound to await the investigation and findings of the committee of one hundred before taking action upon the proposed ordinance. Members of the committee explained that they were not seeking to investigate or determine any differences between the company and its employes; that the committee desired solely to investigate the advisability or necessity of the proposed ordinance from the standpoint of the public convenience, comfort and safety. The City Attorney, with the approval of the committee, undertook to explain the attitude of the Council as to its moral and legal right to consider the matter and to take action thereon. He explained that the Council, as he understood it, had not by its resolution under which the committee of ten citizens was first appointed, contemplated or authorized any inquiries into the policies and plans of Tidewater Power Company, but that such resolution contemplated three things, viz: First, that the law should be upheld and enforced in the community. Second, that such committee should exercise its good offices to bring about an adjustment of differences then existing between the company and certain of its employes. Third, failing in such efforts, that said committee should request the North Carolina Corporation Commission to take action, looking to a settlement of such differences.

"Mr. J. A. Taylor, one of the members of the original committee of ten, a member also, as your committee is informed, of the committee of one hundred, and also a member of a sub-committee appointed by said committee of one hundred, appeared before the committee and made certain remarks and filed with the committee a written statement.

"Rev. Mr. Noe, chairman of the original committee of ten, a member also of the committee of one hundred, as your committee is informed, and a member of the sub-committee appointed by the committee of one hundred, if your committee is correctly informed, made a statement before the committee.

"The president of the Tidewater Power Company, having indicated his position as heretofore stated, told the committee that he was not prepared at the time and did not wish at the time to undertake to answer the questions which the committee had requested the City Attorney to propound to him. The City Attorney then advised the committee that if it was the committee's wish he would ask the question of the president of the company, notwithstanding the position which the president of the company had taken, or he would leave the matter where it stood if the committee so desired.

"The committee thereupon concluded not to make the investigation further at that time.

"In the light of the facts as set forth in this report your committee feels that it is essential to any further progress on its part that this Council should define clearly and unequivocally its position with reference to the matters involved and particularly it should determine by what, if any, authority of the Council the committee of one hundred citizens herein referred to was appointed, and if such committee was appointed by the authority or approval of the Council, whether the Council, and, therefore, this committee acting for it, is morally bound to defer investigation or action upon the proposed ordinance until a conclusion has been reached by said committee of one hundred and this committee advised of such conclusion.

This question lies at the very threshold of the matter and your committee feels that it is one of such importance that the members of the committee ought not to undertake to decide it as committeemen.

"With these matters determined by the Council, your committee reports progress and announces its readiness to proceed.

"The committee attaches hereto written statement of Mr. Hugh MacRae, president of Tidewater Power Company, and written statement of Mr. J. A. Taylor, hereinbefore referred to, which are transmitted for the information of the Council.

Reports Are Made.

Mr. F. M. Rivenbark, superintendent of the work house, reported that he now has on hand 78 inmates at the cunty stockade. He recommended that County Officer H. Mack Godwin should bring out the prisoners when they are convicted, pointing out that this would result in an effectual saving of time for the road forces.

Superintendent of Roads R. H. Burhas on an average 29 men and 11 teams, is now stationed at the three-mile post on the Scott's Hill road. This gang has done much repair work during the past month on the various roads.

Camp No. 3, which has an average of eight men and five teams, is an extra force and is kept at the main camp at night and used for repair work during the day. Gang No. 4, which has an average of six men and three teams, is also a repair gang.

Mr. J. P. Herring, county farm demonstrator, submitted a very interesting report showing what has been done in the way of canning demonstrations. He stated that the people of New Hanover are now getting hold of the right idea in taking care of their surplus vegetables and fruits.

He is now urging the farmers to plant fall cover crops,. Mr. Herring stated, and to this end several tests are being conducted in the way of putting humus in the soil, notably on the farm of Commissioner J. T. Kerr.

All members of the Board attended the meeting yesterday afternoon, although Commissioner MacMillan had to leave before the session was over. Another meeting of the Board will be held probably this week.

CASH CAPITAL OR A "GOOD TIME"
You can secure with your income, aside from a bare living, either a cash capital or a good time. As a rule the prospects for a cash capital diminish as the "good time" idea remains uppermost.
But if you practice self restraint and keep the "Cash Capital" idea in view, you will be amply repaid in the end in the enjoyment of both, for you will have two incomes—that from your business and that from your capital.
